SURVIVOR TELLS STORY OF ESCAPE

Reaches Safety After Wild Flight From Mexican Horse and Cattle Thieves.

By Associated Press.

Ysleta, Texas, January 22.—Douglas Downs, companion of Bert Akers who was killed yesterday by Mexican cattle and horse thieves just below the border of San Lorenzo, Chihuahua, declared today that five Mexicans fired two hundred or more shots at them.

He said neither he nor Akers was armed.

Downs said the Mexican who killed Akers first fired point blank at him (Downs), but missed.

EL PASO CITIZENS ROUSED TO FURY

By Associated Press.

El Paso, Texas, January 22.—The tense situation here produced by the Santa Ysabel massacres more than a week ago, was completed today when the details of the killing of Bert Akers, an American rancher from Ysleta, Texas, became known.

Akers was slain by Bernardo Duran, a Mexican cattle rustler, in a fight that occurred yesterday a few miles below the border.

With a companion, Douglas Downs, and a Mexican police official, Akers sought to recover cattle stolen last Monday, when Duran, with his brother, opened fire from the roof of their house.

General Gavira, commandant at Juarez, gave out a statement which he said covered the circumstances of the fight, as they were related to him by Bernardo Duran and his brother and by a squad of Carranza soldiers who were near the scene of the fray and who arrested the Mexicans.

General Gavira declared that Duran claimed self defense. The general said that if found guilty, the Durans would receive prompt punishment.

COLD WAVE PROMISED

Sweeping Eastward
From Rocky Mountains Promises to Check Floods.

By Associated Press.

Chicago, January 22.—A cold wave, said by the weather bureau to be sweeping eastward from the Rocky mountain region, today was held out as bringing hope for relief from flood conditions which prevailed in northern Illinois and neighboring states yesterday as the result of heavy rains, following a rapid rise in temperature.

Thousands of persons temporarily were made homeless, and the property loss is estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Joliet, Aurora and Elgin, Illinois, suffered most from the floods.

STILL ANOTHER ONE PLANNED

Columbus, O., Jan. 22.—Invitations to number of commercial agricultural and civic organizations of Ohio to participate in preliminary plans for an efficiency survey of the state government will be considered at a meeting of the executive board Secretary Malcolm Jennings announced today.

Plans for a non-partisan inquiry into the organization of state departments with a view to promoting efficiency and saving money were proposed at recent annual meeting of the association, but no action was taken.

FLOOR COLLAPSES

Detroit, Mich., January 22.—The collapse of about forty feet of the second floor of building No. 5 of the Hudson Motor Car Company's plant here, today caused property damage estimated at from $3,000 to $6,000. No one was injured.

Seattle, Washington, January 22.—The Cascade Limited on the Great Northern Railroad, from Spokane, Washington, was struck by a snowslide near Coera Station this morning.

The train was standing still when hit. The dining car and day coach received the full force of the avalanche, and were carried down an embankment three hundred feet.

All the persons in the two cars were reported as killed or injured.

The train had been stopped by a small slide, which had covered the track. Workmen had just completed removing snow and debris from the rails, and the train was about to proceed, when an avalanche thundered down the mountainside.

The dining car and day coach were struck squarely and swept away. The other cars and engine were left on the track.

Corea, where the wreck occurred, is about 120 miles east of Seattle, and is at the loop of a big switchback.

It is the second station down the west slope from the Cascade tunnel, and Great Northern officials said it is almost the exact spot where a train was swept from the tracks February 28, 1910, with great loss of life.

The dining car of the train is reported burning.

The cars in the gulch are not covered by snow, as in the 1910 disaster. At that time, many of the dead were suffocated.

Cries for help from the cars in the gulch can be heard on the track above.

The first passenger reached in the day coach was a small boy. He was severely injured. The next two passengers were dead.

Five employees in the dining car are believed to be dead. Three hours after the wreck, it was impossible to say how many passengers were in the day coach.

St. Paul, Minn., January 22.—Possibly fourteen dead in the Great Northern wreck at Corea, was the report received at 12:45 p. m. at the offices of Louis W. Hill, president of the Great Northern Railroad.

Mr. Hill stated that reports received on the wreck up to this time were belated. Mr. Hill issued the following statement at 1 p. m.:

"The snowslide struck the train, throwing a sleeping car on its side and carrying the diner and chair car over the bank.

"The number of killed and injured is not positively known, but it is reported that the chair car contained eight or ten people, and the sleeping car six people—with employees and probably some passengers in the diner. The accident occurred about 7 a. m."

London, January 22.—The Balkans continue to take precedence in the war news, both Montenegro and Greece being points of notable interest.

The situation in each, however, is somewhat clouded by the scarcity of direct news and the decided conflict of such advices as are received.

Further reports regarding the resumption of hostilities between Montenegro and Austria, following a rejection of peace terms by the former, are lacking.

There is small disposition in Teutonic quarters even to admit that there has been any break in the negotiations.

Of the field of war in Asia, dispatches late last night from Petrograd claimed further successes for the Russians against the Turks in the Caucasus campaign, the Russian official statement declaring that the Turkish army in the vicinity of Erzerum had been defeated and was retreating.

There is discussion in Germany of a separate peace between Germany and Belgium, and a London dispatch quotes an influential German newspaper as suggesting that Belgium ought not wait too long before taking up the subject as Belgium, which until now has been considered as an object of exchange by the German chancellor, would come to be considered a good prize.

New York, January 22.—Fire of mysterious origin forced the Norwegian freight steamer Sygna to put back to port today, after having sailed yesterday with a large cargo consigned to the Russian government.

Officers of the steamer said they cannot explain how the blaze originated in a hold which contained only structural steel and railway material.

The fire is the latest of a long series of fires and explosions which have occurred on vessels shortly after leaving this port with cargoes for the allies.

Hundreds Made Homeless and Train Service Demoralized as Result of Swollen Streams—Operators in Oil Fields Suffer Heavy Losses—Gigantic Ice Fields in Kansas River, Snow in Arizona.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Jan. 22.—Several persons were drowned, much property was destroyed and train service was demoralized in Oklahoma by swollen streams. The damage centered in Murray county and in the Healdton oil fields.

James Shennen of Sulphur, Okla., a wealthy business man, was drowned in Rock creek following a cloudburst. Mrs. Edward O. Cleveland and three of her children lost their lives in the destruction of their home north of Sulphur. Numerous other persons, marooned by the flood water, were rescued in boats.

In the Healdton oil fields operators and pipe line companies apparently suffered heavy losses from lightning. Nine oil tanks were burned, but wire communication was paralyzed before details could be obtained. McAlester reported that all train service north and west from there had been suspended because of extensive washouts and weakened bridges. A St. Louis & San Francisco passenger

There also have been small engagements in Russia around Pinsk and in the region of Czortorysk; artillery and mining operations along the front in France and Belgium, and a continuation of the artillery duels and occasional infantry attacks in the Austro-Italian theater. In none of these have

Many Families Homeless

Ottawa, Ill., Jan. 22.—Hundreds of families have been driven from their homes, many bridges have been destroyed and a number of factories are closed as the result of flood which is sweeping through the Illinois and Fox river valleys. Great damage has been done around Ottawa and La Salle, Marselles and Utica. Steve Bruno, 18, was drowned at La Salle in the Vermillion river, which is far beyond its bounds.

Snow Follows Rain

Douglas, Ariz., Jan. 22.—Heavy rains which began Wednesday and later turned into snow have fallen throughout Cochise county, isolating Douglas, Bisbee, Tombstone and other towns for 40 hours. Eight inches of snow fell here; at Pearce, 50 miles north, the snowfall was two and one-half feet, and at Rodeo, N. M., the depth was 18 inches.

Although it has been reported that the Austro-Hungarians and Montenegrins again are at grips, no details have yet come through as to the progress of the fighting. It is presumed, however, that the Austrians will continue to press the Montenegrins towards the Albanian frontier, and try to capture Montenegro's principal seaport, Antivari.

CONSULS ARE FREED FROM PRISON SHIP

Released Through Good Offices of America.

MUST QUIT THEIR POSTS

Were Placed Under Arrest at Salonica on Charge of Communicating Military Information to the Bulgarians. Charge Einstein, Head of American Legation at Sofia, Ordered to Give Up British Envoy.

Washington, Jan. 22.—The German, Austrian, Turkish and Bulgarian consuls at Salonica, who have been held under arrest by the entente allies on board a French warship in the harbor here, are to be released through the good offices of the United States.

The consuls were arrested soon after the military occupation of Salonica on the charge that they were communicating military information to the Bulgarians outside of the city to direct an attack on the town by enemy aeroplanes.

The condition of release will be that the consuls shall not resume their function in Salonica, but must return to their own countries. Arrangements already have been made for the return to Turkey of the Turkish consul by a devious route, which will take him by way of France or Italy, thence by rail to Switzerland, from which country he can find his way through Germany and Austria to Turkey.

The state department's activity in this case was exercised in pursuance of duty it assumed after the outbreak of war of looking after the interests of the citizens of most of the warring countries.

Charge Einstein, head of the American legation at Sofia, has been instructed by cable to surrender, if Bulgaria insists upon it, the British vice consul there, who took refuge in his quarters when Bulgaria ordered the arrest of enemy consular officers in retaliation for the seizure of the consuls at Salonica.

This action was taken some days ago and Great Britain has been notified. The vice consul fled to the home of the American charge and claimed asylum upon hearing of the arrest of his French colleague. He was received temporarily, and when the Sofia government demanded his surrender, Mr. Einstein cabled Washington for instructions.

After due consideration the state department held that unless it could be shown that the vice consul's life was involved in the surrender, he could not be given asylum. Nothing further has been heard from the case since this decision was communicated to the authorities in Sofia, and it is thought probable that the Bulgarian government chose to refrain from exercising its right pending the outcome of the state department's efforts to secure release of the Bulgarian consul at Salonica, which has now been successful.

PREPARE CALL FOR BIG MEET

Progressive Committee in Session In New York.

New York, Jan. 22.—The executive committee of the Progressive national committee is in session here. It is the purpose of the committeemen to prepare the call for the national convention at Chicago on June 7, and they expect to have it ready for publication a week from next Monday. Members present were George W. Perkins, Matthew Hale of Massachusetts, William Hamlin Childs and Elton H. Hooker of New York, Walter Brown of Ohio, Harold Ickes of Illinois, Herbert Knox Smith of Connecticut, cut, I. R. Kirkwood of Missouri and Chester H. Rowell of California.

Everyone of these committeemen reported to Chairman Perkins that sentiment in his state was overwhelmingly in favor of Colonel Roosevelt as a candidate for the presidency. "They first abhor, then endure, then embrace," shouted an enthusiastic member, paraphrasing Pope's line on vice. "We have a man; the Republicans haven't. Let them come and see us," was the terse comment of Mr. Perkins when he had carefully weighed all the nice things that were being said about the colonel. The name of Justice Hughes of the supreme court was discussed, but most of the committeemen are inclined to believe and to hope that Justice Hughes will not be disturbed and will refuse to enter the campaign lists. It was reported that enrollment is proceeding satisfactorily for the primaries at which delegates to the convention will be chosen and that the prospects are bright for a great showing at Chicago. The committee will meet again on Monday.

Temperature Tumbling

During the past week the mercury has performed some climbing and tumbling feats in the thermometer tubes, that makes the spectacular rise and fall of some of the stock market prices seem common place in comparison.
Since Thursday of last week the temperature has moved rapidly down and up from 72 degrees above to 8 below zero and down again before the week was well passed to 70 degrees.
Even in this section of changeable weather the antics of the temperature during the last week have been remarkable. To say that the rapid and marked changes in weather conditions is responsible for a great deal of sickness is unnecessary. Grippe, colds, coughs and pneumonia are only some of the ills which people are compelled to combat almost wholly attributable to conditions.
From weather recording below zero to almost summer heat in a few days' time, is a menace to health. Folks cannot tell how to clothe themselves to meet conditions. During the last week we have all been either too hot or too cold.
In addition the warm winds and sunshine bring the vapor out of the frozen earth and with it from out of by ways, the nooks and corners a procession of disease germs which mean trouble.

Tax Rate Limit Law

Again the wail is going up from Ohio cities, especially the larger ones, about the shortage in revenues.
Each year the burdens of the Smith one per cent tax rate limit law becomes more difficult to bear, according to the complaining municipal authorities.
The tax gathering officials are almost beside themselves with the demands of the tax spending officials and legislators are being importuned to lay violent hands on the tax rate limit law and take it bodily off the statute books so the cities may have some relief.
All of the real estate in Ohio was reappraised in advance of the coming of the rate limit law and realty owners were given to understand that with their property placed on the duplicate at its full value in money the rate would be decreased in proportion to the increase in realty valuations. Not only that but that a rate limit law would be passed fixing a maximum beyond which tax rates could not go.
That promise was kept.
Now the movement is well under way, especially in the cities of Ohio, to take away the limit. That means the gathering in of a sum which meets the requirements of the tax spending officials and placing an added burden on real property.
Candidates for the legislature should be interrogated closely by the voters and their attitude on the rate limit law clearly ascertained before they are sent to the capital to enact laws. Care should be taken by the voters in the small cities and rural districts that no man who favors the repeal of that law is chosen a member of the legislature.
The rate limit law is the only safeguard realty owners have.

In the face of tremendous increases in the tax duplicate throughout the state, the tax rate has risen steadily and the only obstacle in the way of a higher climb for the rate is the rate limit law.
It should be preserved and it is not too early for real estate owners to be on their guard against an attack which is certain to come soon.

Montenegro Still Fights

Montenegro, the little nation across the sunny Adriatic Sea from Italy, nestled away in a little nook of the Balkan section, scorned the terms of surrender which Austria prescribed and elected to terminate the truce and continue the fight against great odds. The supposedly authentic reports of the surrender of the Montenegrins proved to have been unfounded.
If one can imagine the little nation, slipping away from the turmoil of Europe until she has her back to the sea and at her right hand Albania and Greece, directly in front Serbia and to the left Bosnia and Herzegovina, it will be understood why Montenegro never in all her long history, has been compelled to surrender. A little nation in an out of the way place, behind the nations whose power and wealth arouse the envy and jealousy and covetousness of the powerful nations Montenegro has remained secure until this all-enveloping flame of war has consumed almost every nation of Europe.
Surrender to the central powers or a conclusion to continue the conflict means nothing, so far as this war is concerned, and little so far as the future of any European nation, save Montenegro itself, save possibly Italy. The surrender of Montenegro would mean the permanent establishment by Austria of the base directly across the Adriatic from Italy. A menace to the safety of Italy in the future if there are to be any more wars.
From Montenegro submarines and aeroplanes could be sent across the Adriatic to harass the Italians.
But Montenegro has not surrendered and even the most devout peace advocates must admire her courage to stand up against such odds and say "I dare you."

Poetry For Today

THE DREAMERS.

I like to think that high upon some star,
Mid pillared beauty all past dreamers are—
The souls that saw great visions for the world,
Who dare the heights and sunmost sails unfurled,
And, as Columbus never fainted at the helm,
But steered straight for the undiscovered realm,
Black through the night upon the winnowed wave,
Rebellious though all frightened spirit rave—
I like to think that all these prophets passed
To regions ready for their visions vast!

I like to think that music there is heard,
Such as our tiny hands have never stirred—
A symphony that rings upon the ear
As mightily as the clang of sphere on sphere,
A harmony by Thor-like hammers wrought,
Timed by the throbbing metronome of Thought;
Creating masterpieces for the universe,
In which the dreams of ages they immerse,
Until the planetary pulse will bring
To earth some echo of the song they sing!
I like to think that listening dreamers here
Will catch some message from that ringing sphere,
However faintly, yet will weave it in
An anthem loud above the idle din,
Until all men will hear its beat in awe
And nearer to world unison will draw.
The moving world will point the path to peace
And all the urge of armament will cease,
While nations will forget their warning hate
And fabrics, hitherto undreamed, create!

MODERN GREEKS.

They Show Little of the Grace of Their Famous Ancestors.

Against the background of antiquity it is easy to project the ties of sentiment which bind the life of the Greek of today to that of the classic worthies from whom he claims direct descent, and it was with only a slight shock that I learned that the man who brought me my morning coffee at the legation bore the tremendous name of Themistocles. And yet it is difficult to visualize the modern Athenian with those who once walked his streets.
Thinking of Homer, of Praxiteles and of Phidias, one looks for Helen, for Hermes and for Athene, but the only Helen I ever saw in Athens was an American girl, married to a member of the cabinet and whose golden hair, blue eyes and classic features made her at once the reigning hostess in the city. And it is only in the islands or deep in the country, where the Albanian flood which swept across the Attic plain has never reached, that one finds the facial lineaments and the bodily grace which the ancient sculptor has taught the modern world as being common to all Greeks of classic time.
This survival persists chiefly among the children, because incessant toil and scanty nourishment soon deprive both boys and girls of their native grace and stamp them with the ineradicable marks of a life of labor.—Former United States Minister to Greece George H. Moses in National Geographic Magazine.

PRECIOUS POSTAGE STAMPS.

Issues That Bring Joy to the Heart of the Philatelist.

One of the questions asked us most frequently is, Which is the rarest of all the stamps? There are not a few claimants for this honor, all of which are exceedingly rare, stamps of which but a single copy is known to exist. Indeed, there is evidence which leads us to believe that some stamps were printed and used of which no copies at all are known to be in existence.

Of those stamps of which only one copy is known, the first is a postmaster's provisional issued at Bos-cawen, N. H. Another is a stamp from British Guiana. Only one copy of this is known and is in a celebrated collection in Paris, probably the largest collection in the world.

In 1893 the Niger Coast Protectorate issued a series of surcharged stamps, all of which are scarce, and some of them are in the ranks of the world's greatest rarities. This refers especially to the twenty shilling values. Of the 20 shillings, surcharged in violet, only five copies were ever printed; of the vermilion surcharge, only two copies, and of the black surcharge, only one copy.

As there is and can be only one copy of this last stamp, it is justly entitled to be considered the rarest of all stamps. It probably would not sell so high as the better known and more popular "postoffice" stamps of Mauritius. Yet of these there are known fourteen copies of the penny and twelve of the twopenny.—St. Nicholas.

POPE BENEDICT XV. IS HARD WORKER

Rises at 6 and Is Frequently Engaged Up to Midnight.

TAKES HIS MEALS ALONE.

After Midday Refection the Pontiff Walks in Vatican Gardens if It Is Not Too Hot—Often Goes to the End, Where He Watches Traffic and People With Interest.

Rome.—Benedict XV. is one of the most energetic pontiffs who ever sat upon St. Peter's throne. He gets through more work in the day than most busy men in the outer world. He rises at 6 o'clock, summer and winter. As soon as he is dressed he says mass in his private chapel, assisted by one of his chaplains. After that is a frugal breakfast, consisting of an egg beaten up in a cup of milk—nothing else. Before 8 he is hard at work.
His first task is to read the daily papers. Though his secretaries always prepare for him what they consider the most interesting pieces of news, he prefers to read it first hand. The

POPE BENEDICT XV.

Catholic papers are soon done with. He spends far more time with the Italian Liberal and Democratic organs. At 9 o'clock the mail is brought in. Secretaries segregate it rapidly, submit the more important letters to the pope, and these occupy him till about 10 o'clock, when he receives the cardinal secretary of state.

At 10:30 the private and public audiences begin. Here Pope Benedict shows a marked difference from his predecessor, Pope Pius X. used to like to talk with everybody who came; none went away without a special word from him. But Benedict does not spend so much time on his visitors. Those whom mere curiosity has brought are soon dismissed. It is only in the case of an important person that he lingers in conversation. But even then the audiences last till midday, when the pope takes the principal meal of the day.

Pius X. always dined with one of his chaplains. When the present pope was elected there was much speculation as to whether he would follow that custom. But the order came from his major domo before the first meal that Cardinal Della Chiesa ate as pope to set his table for one person, and he always adheres to the rule of taking his meals alone. His midday meal—lunch or dinner, whichever you like to call it—consists of an Italian soup with plenty of macaroni and cheese, a course of meat, a couple of vegetables and fruit, with a glass of French wine—no more.

After this comes recreation. Until 2:30 or 3 he walks in his private apartments or, when the weather is not too hot, in the Vatican gardens. He goes on foot, unattended by guards or chamberlains, and walks briskly. He often goes to the end of the gardens, to the wall that looks on the Piazza del Resorgimento, Rome's most modern neighborhood, and people down below in the palaces nearest the pontifical gardens can see the pope watching the traffic with evident interest.

At 3 p. m. he goes back to work. Reports, instructions to his nuncios and various correspondence are now attended to. This goes on until 6, when more audiences are held. But these are of a private or intimate nature and are never reported in the Osservatore Romano, the Vatican organ. It is at this hour that Benedict XV. receives his cardinals, the higher officials at the papal court and, very often, Italians who have some political or diplomatic position in the secular government and who cannot therefore go to the Vatican officially. At these evening audiences the pope learns more of what goes on in public affairs outside his domain than at any other time. It is in many respects the most important part of his day.

At 8 the audiences are closed. The pope then takes a supper of eggs beaten up in milk and talks to chosen members of the household for half an hour. And then to work again. Very often the three windows of the pontifical study are lighted up as late as midnight.

No village priest works harder than Benedict XV.

MONSTER WATER BUGS.

One of Them Can Grip and Easily Put to Death a Frog.

The frog's worst enemy is a monster water bug which inhabits the tropical waters of both North and South America. This water bug is one of the largest aquatic insects. It is called a giant by comparison with other bugs, but it is much smaller than any of the frogs on which it preys. Yet so powerful are its legs that it is sure death for the frog that gets within their grasp.

The two principal joints of the forelegs fold down on one another, and the stouter of these two has a groove along its front to receive the sharp inner edge of the next joint, much as the blade of a pocketknife folds down. In the pools and the estuaries of tidal waters these giant bugs hide among stones and rubbish, from which they dart rapidly to attack passing frogs and occasionally fishes. The victim is clasped by the bug's forelegs, and the deadly beak between its two compound eyes is plunged deep into the flesh.

This is not a case of taking toll merely of the victim's blood, as in the case of many other sucking insects; it is speedily followed by the death of the bug's victim. This appears to be due to a copious supply of liquid from around the base of the beak, which finds its way into the puncture.

Professor Loey has traced this to a pair of glands in the head of the giant water bug. Their secretion produces death very quickly.—New York American.

ANSWERS ARE FILED IN TWO INTERESTING CASES

Board of Education Claims Plaintiff C. L. Anders Not Entitled to Compensation When School House Burns — Jeffersonville Woman Denies Allegations Made By Husband in Divorce Suit.

The Board of Education of Green township, defendants in an action filed by C. L. Anders in August, 1911, wherein the plaintiff asked for judgment in the sum of $416 alleged to be due him as a result of contract made with the Board to teach school at Sub-District No. 4, in Green township, have filed answer to the petition of Mr. Anders.

The defendants, who are represented by Post & Reid, admit that the plaintiff was employed to teach the school in question, and that the total salary would have been $416, but state that in September, just about the time the school was to open, the building caught fire and was burned down, so that it was necessary to transfer the pupils of the sub-district to another sub-district. Defendants also state that they had no control over and were not responsible for the destruction of the building.

Defendants further allege that the plaintiff owns and operated farm in Green township during the period when he would have been employed had the building not been destroyed, and that he conducted the farm so that he suffered no loss. Defendants ask that the suit be dismissed at the cost of the plaintiff.

The other answer is made by the defendant in the case of Bernard Smith against Edith Smith, who were married August 31, 1913 and lived at Jeffersonville.

The defendant denies virtually every claim made by the plaintiff and states that the year following their marriage the plaintiff became broken in health and afflicted in mind, and was removed to a Columbus sanitarium for several months. That prior to his afflictions they had lived happily together, and that since his afflictions he has refused to live with her. She asks that he be restrained from selling or encumbering certain realty valued at $1,000 and located in Quay county, New Mexico, and realty valued at $3,000 in Jeffersonville. Custody of their child and reasonable alimony are asked. Post & Reid represent the defendant.

RONALD NICHOLS, STRONG SPEAKER HEADS INSTITUTE

Citizen of Washington and Fayette county are taking much interest in the coming Community Efficiency Institute, which will be held in this city beginning February 4th and closing February 13th, and which will be headed by Mr. Ronald A. Nichols.

Mr. Nichols discovered Harold Bell Wright, the novelist whose work lead "best sellers" whenever a new one is brought out.

Readers of Wright's novels will be particularly interested in seeing and hearing the man who found the distinguished novelist a discouraged boy and inspired him to achieve world-wide success.

Nichols' claim to distinction, however, does not rest upon that notable incident, for he is his own right one of the popular lecturers of the present day, a man of fine personality, full of oratorical fire, magnetic and convincing. Nature has endowed him with a splendid oratorical equipment, a splendid body and a winning voice. He is over six feet in height, weighs over 200 pounds and is muscled like a "white hope."

Nichols fairly radiates good humor and intertia fees from him as from a pestilence. A lazy man can't hear him without wanting to go out and build a Cheops pyramid or dig a Panama canal. There's nothing dry or didactic about his platform utterances. They have punch and pepper in them. They please while they pound home an uplifting message.

LOCAL MAN SAW REMARKABLE SIGHT

Mr. W. W. Hamilton of this city, is home from a trip through the south, and was in Hopewell, the mushroom Du Pont powder town, when a train of 47 cars containing gun cotton was shipped from that place and started on its way toward Russia.

The train is the same that passed over the N. & W. through this state this week, and the shipment was valued at $2,000,000. Ten armed men guarded the shipment. The cars were labeled "brick," "tile," and the like.

The shipment was made across the country to Seattle, Washington and will be shipped from thence to Russia, the distance of 20,000 miles being chosen rather than trusting the shipment to the mercies of the undersea craft between this country and Russia via the British Isles.

DIES IN CLINTON FUNERAL HELD HERE

The death of Mr. John G. Reardon occurred at the home of his son, Mr. J. E. Reardon, in Wilson township, Thursday morning. The deceased was 71 years old and is survived by two brothers, Mr. Edward Reardon and Mr. Daniel Gleason, and one son, Mr. J. F. Reardon, at whose home he died.

The funeral will be held Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at St. Coleman's Catholic Church, Washington C. H.—Wilmington News.

BROWN COUNTY PEOPLE ARE INTERESTED

Of special interest to Fayette countians, formerly residents of Brown county, is the announcement that Vice-president Thomas R. Marshall of the United States, through his representative, John M. Markley, of Brown county, has filed with Secretary of State Hildebrandt his declaration of candidacy for re-election. Five citizens of Brown county signed his declaration.

Judge Markley, father of John Markley, formerly held court often in this city. His grandmother, who was also the mother of Vice-president Marshall, was a sister of General Grant.

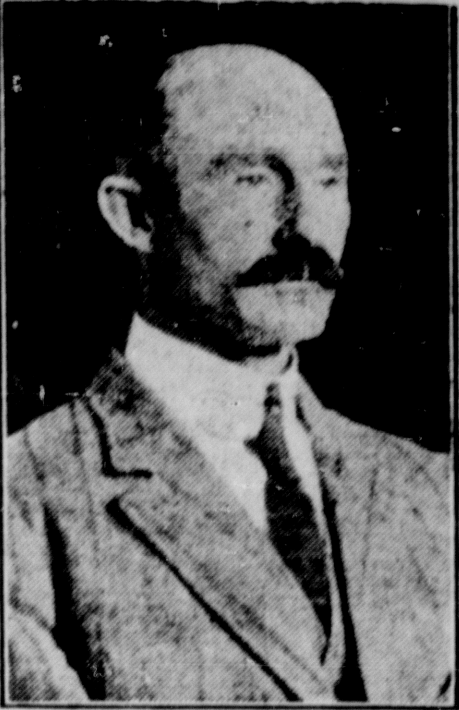

WILLIS JONES WILL CREATE A TRUSTEESHIP

The will of the late Willis Jones was filed in the probate court at London, this week, and Clark Murray is named executor of the will and will act as trustee of the estate.

The residence property in Mt. Sterling is bequeathed to the widow. The three elevators may be leased for one year, but at the expiration of that time they are to be sold. The two farms on the Waterloo pike, one of which is located in Fayette county, are to be conducted under the direction of the trustee, and the profits divided among the widow and two children.

All property except the residence and two farms are to be sold and the proceeds divided among the widow and two children. The trusteeship is similar to that created by the late Humphrey Jones, and is to continue until the death of the widow, and until the son is 35 years of age.

Mr. Jones was born on a farm in Fayette county and attended school in northern Fayette.

Hogs, corn and tobacco, with fruit a profitable side line, are specialties on the farm of Frank Blackford of Eldorado, who will speak during the two days of the coming Farmers' Institute. He has been engaged in farmers' institute work eleven years.

"I am conducting an experiment on sixty varieties of peaches, eight trees of each variety. I want to find which variety does the best and suits the market. The best trees of the best variety I shall use to bud stock for future planting," relates Mr. Blackford. Among the subjects of Mr. Blackford's lectures are "The Farmer's Garden and Orchard," "Hog Production," the "Tobacco Crop." He will also talk on "The Social Side of Farm Life," "The Business Farmer," and "Educational and Cultural Advantages of Farm Life."

GREAT GRIPPE EPIDEMIC IS ON DECLINE

While there are still probably several thousand cases of bad colds and gripe in the city and county, reports indicate that the epidemic—the greatest ever known in the county—is now decreasing, probably due to the recent cold weather.

However, while the epidemic apparently is decreasing, the great variation in the weather and the unusual wet weather is generally termed ideal gripe weather, and citizens generally are exercising a great deal of caution to escape the epidemic of colds and gripe.

During the present month many deaths have occurred in Fayette county, particularly among the aged, as a result of gripe and complications, and scores of persons have been near the shadow of the grave with pneumonia and complications coming from bad colds and the gripe.

Physicians generally have been kept unusually busy in all parts of the city and county, calls coming in at all hours in the night and from every neighborhood, where persons suffering from the epidemic have grown worse as a result of contracting additional cold, or the appearance of some of the dreaded complications.

Not only have the public schools been greatly depleted as a result of the epidemic, but there has been a noticeable falling off in the attendance at public gatherings.

It is estimated that when the epidemic was at its worst, fully one-third of the citizens of the city and county were sufferers.

LOCALS LOSE TO SPRINGFIELD

Washington High lost in the basket ball game with Springfield High at Springfield, Friday night, the Springfielders easily winning from the Washingtonians.

Following is the write-up of the game carried by the Springfield Sun:

"The Springfield high school basketball team broke their losing streak last evening and walloped the Washington C. H. five by the one-sided score of 65 to 21. It was the first killing for the local team during 1916, the other three games going on the wrong side of the ledger. A large crowd filled the gallery, cheering for the locals, who kept out in front in the running.

"Much time was devoted by Coach Shively to pass work during the week and this fine point of the game was in evidence at all times as the locals passed the ball up and down the floor at will. One lacking feat was the basket shooting but another week will put them in shape for that. Many times easy chances with a clear shot were lost, the ball rolling around the basket instead of dropping in as intended.

The guards did much of the basket shooting, running down the floor and taking a try at the cage. Burdett and Bird each made 10 baskets. Nelson played a good game at center.

Gregg at right forward for the Washington team, was the bright and shining star, making 19 of the 21 points his team secured. Fourteen of them were made by seven baskets and the other five on fouls.

Field Goals: Gregg 7, Lewis 1, Littleton 2, Young 4, Nelson 5, Bird 10, Burdett 10.

Foul Goals: Gregg 5, Burdett 3.

WATCH FOR DADDY LONGLEGS. LEAVE FOR THE EAST TO COMPLETE PLANS

Mr. Wm. M. Campbell, manager of the Dahl Millikan branch of the Midland Grocery Co., Mr. C. C. Benbow, of Columbus, and Mr. Chas. Wiseman, traveling passenger agent of the B. & O., leave tonight for Washington, D. C., Atlantic City and Philadelphia to complete contracts and arrange details for the mammoth annual outing of the Midland Grocery Co., the coming summer.

Arrangements have already been made with the B. & O. for seven solid vestibuled trains, of the highest class equipment the B. & O. carries, each train made up of ten pullmans and a diner. Two of these trains will leave from the Washington, C. H. station, one from Blanchester, one from Chillicothe and three from Columbus.

LOCAL MAN'S NAME ON SPEAKERS' LIST

Mr. Frank M. Allen of this city, one of the district superintendents of rural schools, is down on the program of The National Association of State Supervisors and Inspectors of rural schools, to be held in Detroit, Michigan, February 23rd, to 25th. The association will hold two sessions one in the Statler Hotel and another in the Teller Hotel.

The program contains the names of men of national and state reputation in educational work, men of world wide fame as educators will be gathered together from every state of the union.

Mr. Allen is one of the men announced to lead the discussion following an address by M. S. Pittman State Supervisor of rural schools of Oregon on "Through Field Supervision."

BOY SAVES HOUSE FROM DESTRUCTION

Thursday night while "Jimmie" Baughn, a Herald carrier boy, son of Patrolman Baughn, was on his way home from attending the basket ball game at the Y. M. C. A., he discovered flames leaping from the roof of the home of William Bennett.

As the occupants of the house were asleep and could not be aroused in a hurry, Jimmie aroused some of the neighbors, a ladder was procured and the flames which were rapidly gaining headway, were quickly extinguished without the aid of the fire department.

The prompt action of Jimmie saved the house from great damage or total destruction, and had the slumbering occupants not been warned they might have perished in the flames.

THIEVES ENTER PLEAS OF GUILTY

From London comes the report that E. A. Swaney and Foster Thomas, the two Sedalia youths who were arrested for the theft of some 25 bushels of clover seed from the Vent & Riddle elevator at Sedalia, most of which seed was sold at the Fayette Grain Company's office in this city, have entered pleas of guilty to the charge and have involved others in the theft.

The young men, owing to their youth, faced the juvenile court in London, and disposition of their case will be made Monday, when they probably will be sentenced to the Mansfield reformatory.

INVESTING MONEY.

Choose Between Speculative Risks and Safe Securities.

A famous capitalist, writing to Ida M. Tarbe in the American Magazine, says:

"There is no man in the world who can honestly say that he can invest money and be certain of permanent large returns. The big dividends come from speculative ventures, and nobody should make them unless he is willing and able to lose all he puts in."

"I had a thousand dollars sent me today from a woman who wants 20 per cent. I cannot place it so that I can be sure she will permanently get 6 per cent. It is all she has in the world. I have no right to lose it, and I shall not do it. I shall return the money. If she could afford to lose it, that would be another thing."

"There is only one safe way for people to invest, and that is to choose sound, conservative bonds or stocks, and that after consultation with trustworthy brokers or bankers. In the long run it will be worth much more to them than the uncertain large dividend, but nobody believes me. They all think that if I would I could make a fortune for them. When I send this thousand dollars back the last thing this woman will do will be to thank me."

DRY CLEANING AT HOME.

No Eye For Color.

Apropos of the amusing comments on academic costume that so often reveal popular ignorance of the symbolism of hoods and gowns is the following story, told by a contributor to the Liverpool Post:

A friend of mine, says he, is a curate in a local suburban parish. Some little time back he went up to Oxford to take his master of arts degree and the following Sunday appeared in the pulpit resplendent in his new master of arts hood. A few nights later he was dining in the house of a prominent parishioner and was amazed to hear his hostess pleasantly remark:

"Mr. X., that new hood of yours doesn't suit you at all. I can't imagine why you, with your complexion, chose red of all colors in the world. A myrtle green or an old gold would have suited you much better and would have been far more effective. You men never know how to dress yourselves!"

Fanny Dickens.

Fanny, the sister of Charles Dickens, was one of the first students entered at the old Royal Academy of Music when it opened its doors at Tenterden street in 1823, and at that time the students lived at the academy, only going home for the week end. "Every Sunday," Dickens told Forster, "I was at the academy at 9 o'clock in the morning to catch her (Fanny), and we walked back there together at night." And the Sunday itself the two spent—in the Marshalsea prison, where their father and mother then resided, owing to Mr. Dickens having "failed to propitiate his creditors." While her father was still in prison Fanny won a prize at the academy, and the future novelist, then engaged in pasting labels on blacking pots at 7 shillings a week, was present to see her receive it—Westminster Gazette.

In Social Circles

Mrs. Frank L. Stutson and daughter, Miss Stutson, charmingly filled the role of hostesses at one of the most perfectly appointed and beautiful parties of the winter season, Friday afternoon.

An exquisite silver basket of shell pink carnations, roses, hyacinths and narcissi, with gauze bow rising from the handle, and clusters of flowers in faultless arrangement, gave artistic touches to the beautiful home, the setting for an unusual array of handsome afternoon toilets.

So admirably did the spacious rooms, opening into each other, lend themselves to the occasion that a hundred society matrons and maids were comfortably seated for the bridge game.

Mrs. Stutson, looking very handsome in a gown of black moire, black net and silver lace, welcomed the guests with her always gracious cordiality.

Mr. Ernest Woodward comes home from a business trip to West Virginia to spend Sunday.

FUNERAL SERVICES LARGELY ATTENDED

The funeral services of Mr. Benjamin Mershon were largely attended at the Wesley Chapel, Saturday morning, lodge brethren of the Knights of Pythias of this city and the Modern Woodmen of Good Hope joining with the neighbors and friends in showing farewell respect.

Rev. Wm. Boynton Gage of the First Presbyterian church, officiated and Mr. Troy sang two solos, "No Burdens Yonder," and "After Good Night, Good Morning."

The K. of P. closed the services with their beautiful ritual service.

The pallbearers were chosen from the two orders, with which Mr. Mershon had been identified, the Modern Woodmen represented by Messrs. Harve Smalley, Chas. Walker, Erk Parrett, of Good Hope; the K. of P. by Messrs. Floyd Jacobs, Clarence Shoppard, W. D. Chaney.

Among the array of handsome flowers were designs from both orders, neighbors, relatives and friends.

Mr. Mershon leaves three sisters, Mrs. Nelle Lee, of California, who was unable to be here; Mrs. Margaret Hoover, of Bowersville; Mrs. Elizabeth Davidson of this city. Also in attendance from a distance were a granddaughter, Miss Mable Hoover of Bowersville; Messrs. Chas. and Frank Gossett, Greenfield; Grant Scott, Columbus; Dan Kearns and Nate Haynes, Ridgeway, O.

PLAN ENTERTAINMENT AT INSTALLATION

The Sons of Veterans held the annual installation of officers at Memorial hall Friday night. Col. Frank M. Kennedy acted as installing officer and had charge of the interesting ceremonies.

The following officers were installed: J. M. Hartman, Post Commander; Robert Whitmer, Sr., vice; George A. Robinson, Jr., vice; J. C. Murphy, secretary; Glenn Rodgers, treasurer; W. S. Huchison; A. J. Thompson, Wirt Compton, camp council.

The Sons of Veterans are planning for a Lincoln entertainment on Lincoln's birthday, the eleventh of February, to which the old soldiers and the auxiliary G. A. R. organizations will be invited.

WELCOME NEWS TO PRESBYTERIANS

Rev. Wm. Boynton Gage has announced that Rev. Charles Shaw, of Cleveland, will be here the week of February 21st to begin special meetings at the First Presbyterian church.

The Rev. Shaw conducted a most pleasing series of meetings here two years ago and is an eloquent preacher as well as a deeply spiritual man.

Sunday morning and evening the brother of Rev. Gage, President Harry M. Gage, of Huron College, will fill the Presbyterian pulpit.

ROADS CUT THROUGH AUTOMOBILES STICK

The roads in many places are cut through and traveling is very disagreeable. Numerous instances of automobiles sticking fast are reported Saturday. Rural carrier Thompson was one of the auto drivers who stuck, and a machine sent to his aid also stuck.

The Sabina undertaker, who brought a corpse to this city from near Wilmington, Saturday morning, nearly stuck fast a number of times.

THOUSANDS VIEW THE ELKS' ELK

Since the live elk was brought to this city by the Washington Lodge of Elks, thousands of persons have viewed the big fellow in his temporary home at the Airdome, where the elk is eating hay, cabbage, apples and the like.

No admission is charged to see the elk, and nearly every hour in the daytime since the elk was confined in the place, a stream of humanity has passed along, taken a peep at the elk, and moved onward.

Facts About the Sun.
Scientists estimate the volume or size of the sun at more than 1,000,000 times that of the earth, its mass at more than 300,000 times and its density about 50 per cent more than water, but they have not attempted to express its weight in figures. They estimate that the attraction of gravitation alone at the surface of the sun is twenty-seven times that of the earth, so that a 200 pound man on the earth would weigh more than 5,000 pounds at the sun, provided he could stand the temperature long enough to be weighed.

MEXICO PLANS TO EXTEND RAILWAYS

Carranza Government Considering Construction of Lines.

GIVING OF WORK ONE IDEA

Inspector of Mexican Consulates Declares Helping of Laborers One of Main Purposes—Some Roads Started Before Trouble Began—One Will Parallel Rio Grande.

San Antonio, Tex.—It is stated by Rafael E. Musquiz, inspector of Mexican consulates, who has arrived here direct from the City of Mexico, that the de facto government of his country has under consideration plans for the early construction of several thousand miles of railway. One of the main purposes of the proposed work is to give employment to great numbers of laborers who are in need of help of this sort. At the same time the importance of opening for development wide stretches of country that are now lacking in transportation facilities is not lost sight of.

According to Mr. Musquiz, northern Mexico is to be especially favored in the matter of obtaining new lines of railway. One of the most important of these projects has for its route the isolated stretch of border territory between Nuevo Laredo and Piedras Negras, paralleling the Rio Grande. This proposed "picket line" road will be extended later from Nuevo Laredo to a connection with the Matamoros-Monterey division of the National Railways of Mexico, thus forming an all rail route between Matamoros and Piedras Negras, opposite Eagle Pass, Tex., about 500 miles.

The plans also provide for the construction of a railroad from Monclova, Coahuila, to the city of Chihuahua, a distance of about 450 miles, traversing a region rich in coal deposits and precious minerals; there are also many large ranches along the route. The construction of this road was projected by a syndicate of American capitalists at the time the Madero revolution was started, a concession for the enterprise having been granted by the Diaz administration.

The branch line of the National Railways that runs from Monclova to Cuatro Ciénegas, General Carranza's home town, in the state of Coahuila, is to be extended to the mining town and district of Sierra Mojada, a distance of about seventy miles, Mr. Musquiz says. At Sierra Mojada the new line will connect with the Mexican Northern railroad, which runs to Escalon, where it connects with the Chihuahua division of the National Railways.

The construction of a branch line of the Torreon-Piedras Negras division of the National railways from Allende to Las Vacas, opposite Del Rio, Tex., about seventy-five miles, is already in progress, according to Mr. Musquiz.

The construction of the Tampico-Mexico City "cut off" line is to be resumed very soon. This project, in connection with the proposed railway that is to be built between Tampico and Matamoros, opposite Brownsville, 315 miles, is perhaps one of the most important of all the railway enterprises which the de facto government now has under consideration. Its fulfillment will mean the establishment of a new and direct rail route between the United States and the Mexican capital, reducing the distance about 200 miles, as compared with the shortest of the existing lines. The "cut off" road was under construction when the revolutionary troubles began, considerable grading having been done on the Tampico end.

Another important railroad project that was abandoned on account of the internal strife is to be revived. It is that of a connecting line from a point on the National Tehuantepec railroad and Campeche, where connection will be made with the United Railways of Yucatan. This road will be about 450 miles long.

SQUIRRELS' DEATHS PUZZLING

Folks About Blue Ridge Mountains Think Chestnut Blight is Cause.

Waynesboro, Pa.—The squirrels are said to be dying off in droves in the Blue Ridge mountains to the east of Waynesboro and on down through the Catoctin range in Frederick county.

Bunches of dead foxes and gray squirrels are being found on the ground by woodchoppers, chestnut hunters and others.

The condition is so exceptional that the folks about the mountain are unable to account for it except on the theory that the animals have been poisoned by the chestnut blight that has been raging in the Blue Ridge chain for the past year, destroying thousands of trees.

Disraeli and the Editor.
Disraeli would dearly have liked to suspend the London Globe years ago when that paper, then a Whig organ, fell foul of him over his "Vindication of the English Constitution." Few editors have ever been so roughly abused as in Disraeli's letter to the Times: "It is not my passion for notoriety that has induced me to tweak the editor of the Globe by the nose and to inflict sundry kicks upon the baser part of his base body, to make him eat dirt and his own words, fouler than any filth, but because I wished to show to the world what a miserable poltroon, what a craven dullard, what a literary scarecrow, what a mere thing, stuffed with straw and rubbish, is the so-called director of public opinion and official organ of Whig politics."—London Opinion.

Chicago Bandit Makes His Escape With $900.

HAD WOMAN ACCOMPLICE

Enters Office of Touring Agent in Business District While Day's Receipts Are Being Counted, Orders Everybody to Stand Aside, Shoots Employee and Grabs Money From the Counter—Escapes in Automobile.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Policeman B. A. Johnson was shot and killed and Cashier E. L. Walsh seriously wounded by a daring bandit, who held up and robbed the offices of Thomas Cooke & Sons, tourist agents, 15 East Jackson boulevard. The robber escaped with $900 in cash after forcing a chauffeur to drive him from the scene of the holdup.

A woman accomplice sat in an automobile near the curbstone, jumped from the motor and disappeared in the crowds. The shooting caused the wildest panic. The ticket office is but a few feet east of State street.

The cashier was counting over his receipts. "Hands up, everybody!" ordered the highwayman as he came forward with a revolver in his hand. "Get over on this side and stand in line," was his next command. Walsh started to reach for a revolver. Immediately there was a report and Walsh fell with a bullet in his chest. The robber seized the pile of bills, tucked them into his pocket and backed towards the door.

The report of the revolver had attracted the attention of passersby. One of the crowd ran to the street crossing and summoned Policeman Johnson. Johnson reached the doorway just as the robber was stepping out. As Johnson started to enter the robber fired, the bullet passing through his heart. Johnson fell dying on the doorstep. By this time the street was almost impassable. Women had rushed screaming into doorways. Those nearest the ticket office were fighting to get back.

The robber saw that it was impossible for him to reach the machine in which the woman was waiting with the engine running. He ran east, where another machine was standing. He jumped into the seat beside the driver and ordered him to drive away. A mile away he jumped out and disappeared. The driver reported to the police and convinced them that he did not know the robber and did not know that the place had been robbed until he returned to the scene.

The woman who had driven to the ticket office with the highwayman waited until she saw he was unable to reach her on account of the dense crowd on the sidewalk and street. She did not attempt to drive away, but stepped from the machine and mingled with the crowd, before it was known that she had come to the place with the bandit.

Policeman Johnson was taken to St. Luke's hospital. He was dead before he was carried from the ambulance.

CAN'T SEE THEODORE

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Jan. 22.—"With Colonel Roosevelt on the Republican ticket I would not hesitate to say that the Republican party would be beaten," said former President William H. Taft, when interviewed by the press board of Vassar college. "I am not only keeping out of the race, but I am kept out of it. With Mr. Wilson running for re-election, a Republican president will be re-elected."

Mr. Taft said that although the president minimized the question of preparedness a year ago, he made it the chief subject of his message this year. He declared that he believed it would be difficult to put Mr. Wilson's plan in operation, saying that it would take $260,000,000 to carry it out. Mr. Taft said that a large navy was the most important feature of national preparedness plans. Asked if conscription was apt to be made a party issue, Mr. Taft replied: "They say I am not a politician, but I know what would happen to the party that tried to make it an issue."

WILL ASK RAISE

Indianapolis, Jan. 22.—It was learned from leaders of the United Mine Workers of America, now in biennial convention in this city, that those in control of the organization expect the convention to adopt a scale for the bituminous coal fields which will call for at least 10 cents a ton increase in wages. There are resolutions before the scale committee for action which call for increases all the way from 5 cents to 20 cents, it was said, but it is not expected that the committee will recommend a higher increase than 10.

HOUGH SUGGESTS MORE STATE POWER

Washington, Jan. 22.—The next Ohio legislature will enact a law creating a state constabulary, if it heeds a recommendation which Adjutant General Benson W. Hough intends to make. General Hough arrived in Washington to transact business before the war department and announced that it is his purpose to seek the creation of a state constabulary such as Pennsylvania has. He is opposed to the present system, which makes the militia do strike and notice duty, and he would transfer that duty to the state constabulary when it is created. He believes that a constabulary consisting of 250 men would be sufficient.

"If we had had a constabulary of that size to send to Youngstown when the recent strike was in its incipientcy it would soon have had the situation in hand, in my opinion," he said.

General Hough favors national legislation relieving the militia of strike duty. He also is very much opposed to the proposed continental army.

LOOKING BACK

New York, Jan. 22.—"Carnegie's Boys," now the middle-aged masters of the steel industry, who got their start in life under Andrew Carnegie in the Carnegie Steel company, held their fourteenth annual dinner in the home of Charles M. Schwab in Riverside Drive. For the first time since the Carnegie veterans' association was organized, the members were unable to dine with Mr. Carnegie, founder and president of the association. He is in Florida on a houseboat near Miami. Mr. Schwab, most noted, perhaps, of all of these men who came to be millionaires through their partnership with Mr. Carnegie, is the vice president of the association and acted as host.

"Carnegie's Boys" always avoid as much as possible discussion of serious business affairs at their annual celebration. As usual there were no formal addresses, but reminiscences flowed freely as Mr. Schwab, William E. Corey, Alva C. Diney, James Gayley and many others recalled the days some 25 years ago when they worked with their hands in the Carnegie company's mills.

SLAYER HOOTED BY CLEVELANDERS

Cleveland, Jan. 22.—Escorted by police through dense crowds which hooted at him and yelled for vengeance, Louis Bianchetti, who was arrested in New York city and confessed to strangling to death Dolores Evans in a hotel room here nine days ago, was taken from a train and placed in the county jail, where he collapsed. He has been indicted on the charge of murder in the first degree. Bianchetti eluded police here after remaining in the city two days. He sought refuge at the home of a sister in New York, where he was captured.

MADE SOME CHANCES

Washington, Jan. 22.—Final plans for President Wilson's forthcoming trip through the middle west to speak on national preparedness, approved, includes stops at Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Milwaukee, Chicago, Des Moines, Topeka and Kansas City. A tentative itinerary drawn up included St. Louis, St. Joseph and Davenport, but these cities have been eliminated and Milwaukee and Topeka substituted.

TWENTY SHOT AS STRIKERS BURN TOWN.

East Youngstown (O.) striking steel workers loot stores and set buildings in flames. The city officials found it necessary to call out the national guard, but not until after twenty people were shot and $300,000 of damage done.

OHIO NEWS

Bope's Successor Named.

Columbus, O., Jan. 22.—George H. Hamilton of Newark will succeed George W. Bope of Columbus as state inspector of workshops and factories. Hamilton is an assistant state fire marshal at an annual salary of $1,200. He will get $3,000 in his new job. He was an applicant when Bope was first appointed. He is a former glass-blower.

Hotel Destroyed.

Alliance, O., Jan. 22.—An exploding gasoline stove in the apartments of John Thomas at Bergholz ignited the Commercial hotel and it was burned to the ground with $25,000 loss. The drug store of S. M. Carson and the restaurant of Harold Carson were badly damaged, but the building was partially saved. George Saltzman and Mrs. S. G. Carson and Mrs. Moore were burned. The total loss may reach $35,000.

Arrange for Delegates.

Columbus, Jan. 22.—The Republican state central committee has sent out instructions authorizing the Republican central committee of each county to proceed to divide its county into districts for representation at the state convention, June 21, in Columbus. There is to be one delegate for every 500 votes cast for Governor Willis in 1914. The delegates from these districts are to be elected at the primary, April 25.

No Violence Attempted.

Urbana, O., Jan. 22.—One hundred striking machinists of the Urbana Tool company gathered outside of the factory here when it had been reported that the company would put a score of strikebreakers to work. The entire police force was called, but no violence was attempted. The company changed its plan and did not attempt to operate the factory, but announced that a full force of nonunion men will be put to work Monday.

AFTER USURERS

Washington, Jan. 22.—Legislation that will give the government power to prohibit all national banks from charging usurious rates of interest on loans may result from testimony given by the house committee on rules by John S. Williams, comptroller of the currency. Mr. Williams appeared before the committee to urge favorable action on a resolution providing for an inquiry into charges that many national banks exact extortionate rates of interest far beyond the legal rates permitted in the states in which they do business. He told the committee he could punish national banks guilty of charging usurious rates by bringing suits for annulment of their charters, but that such proceedings were cumbersome and difficult. He said he now contemplates filing annulment suits against some banks that have been more flagrant in charging usurious interest.

It is thought that proposed legislation will make it a criminal offense for a national bank officer to countenance a charge for a loan in excess of the legal limitation prescribed by state laws.

AUSTRIANS DENY SINKING PERSIA

Vienna, Jan. 22.—The government has informed Frederic C. Penfield, the United States ambassador, that no Austro-Hungarian submarine was concerned in the sinking of the Peninsular and Oriental line steamer Persia.

HENRY JAMES ILL

London, Jan. 22.—Henry James, the American author, who took the oath of allegiance as a British subject last year, has been seriously ill for several months and his physicians state that his condition is not improving. The chronic disease from which he suffers has been complicated by two light strokes of apoplexy.

WERE COMPELLED TO GIVE A PAIR

Washington, Jan. 22.—President and Mrs. Wilson gave their first diplomatic dinner at the White House. Usually the president and his wife honor the representatives of foreign nations at Washington at a reception which is regarded as the most brilliant social event of the Washington season. This year, however, the great war in Europe made the holding of such a reception impossible. Inasmuch as the ambassadors of the warring nations don't speak when they meet, it would, of course, be impossible to include all of them in the same social gathering. The president and Mrs. Wilson met the situation by deciding to invite the diplomats of all the neutral nations to both dinners. The dinner included the representatives of all of the allies, and the Teutonic ambassadors and their allies have been invited to gather around the White House board Monday evening.

AFTER MILLER'S JOB

Columbus, Jan. 22.—Frank B. Pearson, high school inspector for Ohio State university and editor of the Ohio Educational Monthly, is being mentioned as a possible successor to Frank W. Miller, state superintendent of public instruction, who will become superintendent of schools at Dayton. Pearson and the governor are personal friends of long standing.

IRISH BABY FUND

Washington, Jan. 22.—Lady Aberdeen, wife of the former governor-general of Canada and Viceroy of Ireland, announced here at an informal reception given in honor of herself and Lord Aberdeen, the inauguration of a campaign to raise $30,000 in the United States to help save Irish babies from death by starvation and lack of proper medical attention.

VILLA SURROUNDED AGAIN

Pearson, Chihuahua, Jan. 21.—Francisco Villa, according to military reports, was at El Ruiria, 13 miles from here, and surrounded by Carranza troops. His capture was expected at any moment, military officers declared.

FIVE NEGROES LYNCHED

Sylvester, Ga., Jan. 22.—Five negroes, accused of murder, were taken from the Worth county jail here, taken to Starkville, some miles distant in automobiles and hanged to one limb of a tree. Their bodies were then riddled with bullets.

INCREASE LIVE STOCK

Washington, Jan. 22.—Livestock census shows number of horses in United States has increased 29,000 in past year. Mules increased 84,000; milch cows 726,000; other cattle, 2,293,000.

HIS FLIGHT OF ORATORY.

The Cause Was Lowly, but the Lawyer's Plea Was Eloquent.

The wit and wisdom of members of the bar are acknowledged in all circles, and the following example, recorded by M. McDonnell Bodkin's book, "Recollections of an Irish Judge," is certainly worthy of being preserved:

"A certain barrister appeared to support an application before the recorder of Dublin for a license for a public house. The applicant was only twenty-five years old, and the recorder remarked that he was very young for a responsible position. The resourceful advocate rose majestically to the occasion and said:

"My lord, Alexander the Great at twenty-two years of age had crushed the Illyrians and razed the city of Thebes to the ground, had crossed the Hellespont at the head of his army, had conquered Darius with a force of a million in the defiles of Issus and brought the great Persian empire under his sway. At twenty-three René Descartes evolved a new system of philosophy. At twenty-four Pitt was prime minister of the British empire, on whose dominions the sun never sets. At twenty-four Napoleon overthrew the enemies of the republic with a whiff of grapeshot in the streets of Paris, and is it now to be judicially decided that at twenty-five my client, Peter Mulligan, is too young to manage a public house in Capel street?"

Oddest of Queer Fishes.

A queer fish that does not swim in the "sargasso sea," known to sailors as the "frogfish." It lives in that vast mass of floating seaweed called the Sargasso sea, in mid-Atlantic.

Its pectoral fins are so modified and developed as to resemble arms, and it uses them for clinging to the weed. Very gaudily colored, it changes its hues to match the aquatic vegetation by which it is surrounded, and when the latter decays and turns brown it assumes a corresponding shade.

The fish lays its eggs in a jelly-like mass, which, absorbing a great quantity of water, becomes three times as big as the mother fish herself, assuming the form of a narrow raft three or four feet long and two to four inches wide.

COLLEGE MEN FAIL IN QUIZ ON WAR

Test Shows Students Are Ignorant of Current Events.
MANY LUDICROUS ANSWERS

Examinations in Three Institutions Result in College Authorities Seeking Corrective Measures to Overcome Deficiency—Believe Students Are Indifferent to European Affairs.

New York.—Whether the ignorance of the college student of today is representative of a growing indifference on the part of the American public toward events, persons and places intimately associated with the European war is a question which college and university authorities are investigating as a result of examinations recently held under the auspices of three representative institutions. As an immediate result of the recent quiz on contemporary events conducted at New York university, where an average grade of 58 per cent was the rating shown by fifty-nine students, several members of the faculty are looking for corrective measures to overcome this deficiency.

It was stated by a member of the department of history at the New York university that he believed the apparent indifference of students toward the present war was indicative of a general tendency on the part of the public to neglect a close study of affairs in Europe. That the surprising lack of information of affairs immediately connected with the war was not peculiar to students at any university was further expressed as the opinion of Professor A. H. Nason, assistant professor of English at New York university. Professor Nason, who submitted twenty-one questions to students in his various classes, pointed out that the questions used have also been submitted to students of two other institutions—a middle western state university and Bowdoin college—where the results were about the same.

Dean Kenneth C. M. Sills of Bowdoin college is quoted as saying, "I do not think college men of New England colleges are very steady newspaper readers," and referred to the matter as "lamentable, but not surprising."

Some of the questions asked by authorities at both Bowdoin college and New York university received answers which in many cases were ludicrous. At Bowdoin out of a class of fifty-three students twenty were ignorant as to the location of Gallipoli, which in many cases was put variously in Italy, France, Bulgaria, Greece and Berlin. New York university students answered the same question with apparently as little accuracy.

The French General Joffre was variously designated by students at both institutions as "Joffree," "Joffrey," "Geoffrey" and "Jeoffrey," indicating a general unfamiliarity with even newspaper headlines. The question, "Who is Venizelos?" resulted in similarly ridiculous answers. Some recollected the ex-premier of Greece as a Spanish artist, another said that he was a Mexican rebel, while still another designated him as the premier of Italy. When asked "Who is the present ruler of England?" several students replied variously King Edward, George III, IV, or VI as the correct information.

In the department of history at New York university Assistant Professor Theodore F. Jones submitted current questions to a class of students in European history, among which was the query, "Where is Christiania?" Only two students knew its location, in spite of the fact that the daily papers of the day before all contained long accounts of the landing of the Ford party at that city. One student of the same class half seriously answered the question, "Who is Sir Douglas Hague?" by stating that he would answer the question correctly if told where the other "Haig" was.

Of the fifty-nine students taking the examination at New York university none answered all of the inquiries correctly, while only three obtained a grade above 90 per cent. Of a class of twenty-three freshmen nine failed, while the average rank was 63 per cent. Another class of the same number of freshmen averaged only 52 per cent, and thirteen failed to pass, while a class made up of upper class men did as poorly and averaged a grade of only 61 per cent.

ADVERTISING GETS WIFE.

Virginia Man Courts by Mail and Marries Indiana Woman.

Hymera, Ind.—Thomas Bond Buchanan, aged forty-five, a wealthy farmer of Petersburg, Va., advertised for a wife, and he found one.

After a few months of courtship by mail he came here to see his sweetheart. Each was pleased with the other's manner and appearance, and they were married. The bride was Jennie Stewart, aged forty-three.

Banker Sees Play Sixty-ninth Time.

Appleton, Wis.—Herman Erb, president of the First National bank, saw "Uncle Tom's Cabin" for the sixty-ninth time lately. He has not missed the play in over thirty-five years, and although seventy-two years of age he says it grows on him each time he sees it.

TALISMAN OF THE CELTS.

Romance of the Lia Fail, a Curious Piece of Stone.

In every strongly Irish newspaper, either in America or in Ireland, there is the oft repeated threat: "Wait until we recover the Lia Fail. Then Ireland will become a republic." And the readers have asked again and again: "What is the Lia Fail? Where is it, and what is its magic power?" Those who remember the Fenian fiasco, some years ago, will recall the battledry of the troops, "Ho, for the Lia Fail!" The recovery of this Celtic talisman, however, would involve something more than a victory over some outlying province of Great Britain, for it is a part of the coronation chair in Westminster Abbey. It is a curious piece of stone, a little more than two feet long, and is said to be the identical stone on which Jacob rested his head when he had his marvelous dream. It was taken to Ireland, according to tradition, before the Christian era, and its removal from that island meant the death of liberty and independence to the Celt.

After a century of possession it was conveyed to the Ionian islands, to be used in a coronation ceremony, and was never recovered. The kings of Scotland seized and held it as their mascot. By Edward I. it was carried to London among the spoils of war when the Scottish kingdom began to totter. The son of Edward attempted to restore the stone to the Scotch, but already it had taken such hold on the superstition of the English that they feared for their country, and a mob prevented its restoration.—Exchange.

COLORS OF METEORS.

Three Stages Through Which They Pass to Reach the Earth.

An article by Alfred Wegener in the Scientific American offers an explanation of the marked difference of color observed in meteors. Up to an altitude of about forty-five miles the principal constituent of the earth's atmosphere is nitrogen. A second stratum of the atmosphere, extending up to about 125 miles, consists mainly of hydrogen. Still higher, Wegener himself has sought to prove the existence of a stratum consisting of an excessively light gas which he calls "geocoronium."

When entering the atmosphere from outer space meteors do not become luminous in the very tenuous "geocoronium sphere," but only when they enter the "hydrogen sphere," and most of them are dissipated before reaching the nitrogen atmosphere. The largest fireballs, however, penetrate deeper and may reach the earth or explode not far above it.

Dr. Wegener finds that the meteors that penetrate deep enough pass through three color stages—viz, yellow, white, green and deep red. The great majority exhibit only the first stage, in which the color (white, yellow, sometimes reddish) is that of the incandescent meteor itself. The green stage Wegener believes to be due to the incandescence of the hydrogen through which the meteor is passing, while the deep red stage is due to the incandescence of nitrogen in the lower atmosphere.

Thrill of Being Wet.

There is something rudimentary and fundamental about having water splashed down upon one and getting completely and deliciously wet—not damp, not moist, but wet, wringing wet. You yourself when a child never enjoyed anything so much as your first drenching in an unforeseen and unavoidable rainstorm—the thrill of being wet, the cool drive of the water on your nose, into your sleeves and down your neck, and the joyous slush of soaked, water logged boots. Even the tedium of being rubbed with alcohol, bundled up and warned you would catch your death did not diminish the event. You voted it better than the time you fell off the boat dock; it lasted longer.—Atlantic.

Criticism Implied.

"He doesn't like my cooking," sobbed the three months bride, a tear on her long lashes. "I just know he doesn't. So there!"

"What makes you think so?" her mother asked. "Has he said he doesn't like your cooking?"

"No-no-o," stammered the bride. "Nonsense, child. It's just your imagination. I felt there was no basis."

"There is a basis," the bride insisted tearfully. "I had been cooking the loveliest things for him for about two weeks, and then he told me he had decided to become a raw food faddist. Bo-hoo-o-o!"—Judge.

Dr. Johnson's Homeliness.

Samuel Johnson was himself—and this is a quality rarely found in "plain" men—under no illusion as to his personal appearance. Dr. Burney tells us that on one occasion while Miss Burney was examining his portrait he peeped over her shoulder and, with a ludicrous half laugh, exclaimed: "Ah, ha, Sam Johnson! I see thee—and an ugly dog thou art!"—London Times.

Force of Habit.

"The idea of that upstart talking back as he did to a society favorite! And they do say he was one time only a butler."

"Maybe that is why he was so quick to answer the belle."—Baltimore American.

All Alike.

The following entry appears in the "visitors' book" of a hotel in Germany: "The living here is good, plain and substantial. So is the waitress."

If you stay up nights you can't keep up daytime.—Judge.

LATEST BURGLAR'S TOOL DISCOVERED

'Old Man' With Four Legs Fashioned by Prisoner.

QUIETLY RIPS SAFE KNOB.

Marks Found After Robbery in Michigan Trust Company at Grand Rapids Spoke Volumes to Detectives—Weights Less Than Ten Pounds, but Does Job. Sometimes "Soup" Is Needed.

Grand Rapids, Mich.—A few years ago a mechanic fashioned a few strips of steel at his home forge, and the grotesque creation of this man, who is now serving time in the Ohio penitentiary, was christened "old man," and by way of distinction he was spoken of as having four legs.

When top story men worked in the Michigan Trust building here on a recent Sunday and tore out the combinations of two safes and shot another with nitroglycerin the "old man" with the four legs left his imprints on the safes. Where his "feet" had been planted were four deep dents. Those marks spoke volumes to the detectives.

Only expert safe crackers use the "old man." The man whose brain gave birth to this ingenious tool fashioned a most powerful and useful implement for the craft who use explosives and drill steel safes for a living when some commonwealth is not feeding and housing them in exchange for a safe cracking job or some other depredation.

A piece of steel fashioned into the semblance of a narrow horseshoe is the framework of the "old man." There is just enough room between these strips to enable the "old man" to drop over the knob of a safe. Four holes drilled in the "old man's" frame furnish the foothold for the four legs. The holes are threaded with a fine thread, as are the legs.

Once the "old man" fastens his grip upon the safe knob the legs are screwed into the holes. The close threads on bolts and hole give the "old man" a tremendous purchase power, and with a monkey wrench the legs are screwed down.

In a moment they are fast and the "old man's" back is bent to the task. So short and powerful is his frame and so closely set are his legs that there is no chance for him to bend at his work. The combination commences to give, and as the jaws of the wrench twist the legs in deeper the knob is slowly torn out. Entrance to the safe then is easy, and the inner compartments, once bared, are easily battered in.

The "old man's" right hand aid is a self fed drill, which can be fastened into the "old man's" frame as easily as one of the legs. An extra hole is drilled into the frame, and into this fits the threaded bolt that holds the drill steady and in place. But the drill is used only where the charge of "soup," or nitroglycerin, is resorted to in blowing the safe.

In this case the yeggs fasten the "old man" securely on the safe knob. The drill is placed, and the yegg then feeds the steel drill as he turns the handle. The bolt which holds the drill to its work and which is fastened into the "old man's" frame is one piece, while the drill is set inside of a threaded bolt that pushes it forward with the regularity the yegg uses in drilling.

After the hole is deep enough the "soup" is administered, and the hole is covered with wax and a fuse attached. Office rugs are thrown over the safe, and the yeggs step to one side as the fuse is fired. The real yegg uses just enough "soup" to accomplish the work of wrecking the safe without blowing the doors through a wall or making unnecessary noise.

The last job done in which the "old man" and a charge of "soup" were used was sufficient just to pull the door from its steel fastenings and hurl the combination out. Pushing back the bolts was nothing, and with a kit of special tools the yeggs soon entered the strong box.

The latest jobs credited to the "old man" with the four legs are those at Flint, in which much loot was taken from a bank; the Vermontville post-office and the United Light and Railways company's offices here, in which the "old man" was clamped on three safes.

One of the most complete yegg outfits in captivity is in possession of Director of Safety A. A. Carroll, who has the "old man" with the four legs. Included in this outfit are drills of various sizes, threading tools, skeleton key, "soup" guns, wax, chisels and sundry articles. The outfit was taken from a pair of yeggs who were captured by Director Carroll, but who fled after they jumped their bail bonds.

So complete was the tool molded by the inventor of the "old man" that the police assert no added inventions have come to make such an instrument more useful.

MILE A MINUTE TO SAVE DOG

Motorist Wins in Race Against Fire; Also Rescued Pet Cat.

Anoka, Minn.—Anthony Bryson drove an automobile forty miles in forty-five minutes over frozen country roads to save his dog and cat from fire.

Bryson's home on Elk river took fire while the owner and his wife were away. He was called on the telephone, and the race began. Bryson arrived too late to save the home, but rescued the pets.

The Fashion of the House.

A servant girl happened to be engaged at a farmhouse where the mistress was known to have a hasty temper. On the first Saturday night the girl was at the farmhouse she was told by the mistress to clean the boots ready for Sunday. The mistress on coming into the kitchen later on saw that the girl had cleaned her own boots first. So she took them up and threw them into a tub of water that was standing by and bounced out of the kitchen. The girl said nothing, but when she had cleaned the other boots she threw them also into the water.

"Whatever possessed you to do that, girl?" asked the mistress on coming again in the kitchen.

The girl simply replied: "Well, ma'am, please, ma'am, I thought it was the fashion of the house, ma'am!"—London Tit-Bits.

SWINE PLAGUE IS ON THE DECREASE

According to a local veterinarian the swine plague—hog cholera—is on the decline in Fayette county, and is not nearly so prevalent as it was last fall.
The decrease in the disease is due to the fact that serum treatment is being widely used, there are less hogs in the county by several thousands, and greater precaution is being taken by the farmers to prevent spread of the disease.
Tens of thousands of dollars have been lost in the county during the past year as a result of the ravages of the plague.

THE PRESIDENT ENJOYS CRUISE

Accompanied By Mrs Wilson the Chief Executive Seeks Seclusion in Yacht Trip Down Potomac.

By Associated Press.
Washington, January 22.—President and Mrs. Wilson, aboard the yacht Mayflower, were cruising down the Potomac River today towards Chesapeake Bay.
The trip was taken to enable the president to have seclusion while he prepares the address he is to make in New York, January 27, at the Railroad Business Association banquet, and to draft tentatively the others he is to make on national preparedness on his Middle Western trip.
The President will be kept informed of all important news, while he is on the Mayflower, by wireless.

HARTMAN THEATER

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, January 31st, Feb. 1st, and 2nd. Matinee Wednesday.

CYRIL MAUDE IN "GRUMPY."

England has never sent us a more delightful actor than Cyril Maude, who will be seen for first time in Columbus at the Hartman Theater Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights and Wednesday matinee, January 31st and February 1st and 2nd, in "Grumpy." Mr. Maude is said to possess charm and magnetism not unlike those of our dearly loved Joseph Jefferson. As the astute octogenarian "Grumpy", who hides a warm heart under a gruff exterior, and who sets out with undaunted energy despite his years, to unravel the mystery of robbery and aches his purpose, Mr. Maude is at his best. The play is in four acts, and is melodramatic comedy written by Horace Hodges and T. Wigney Percyval. It has served to establish Mr. Maude as one of the greatest character actors ever seen on the American stage. Proof of the attractiveness of the star and the play, is the fact that after the long engagement at Wallack's Theater, New York, Mr. Maude returned from a year on tour, and went to the Empire Theater, this Fall, for a limited engagement, finding acapacity audience present to greet his every performance. To the Hartman he brings the identical cast that so ably supported him in the metropolitan presentation of "Grumpy." Mail orders for the Columbus engagement are being received and filled now.

Friday, Saturday and Sunday, February 4, 5, and 6—Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival.

Gifted with that peculiar faculty of sensing exactly what is of absorbing interest, Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival which comes to the Hartman Theater, Columbus, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, February 4, 5, and 6, can always be relied upon for an evening of unalloyed pleasure for young and old. Besides pictorial pilgrimages of rare charm to Maderia, Italy, France, Holland, Switzerland, the Firth of Forth, and our own Glacier National Park, the new program also includes dozens of distinct pictorial novelties. Thrills are also provided by a ride in an aeroplane above the clouds.

MANY FOOLISH LETTERS TO THE GOVERNOR

By Associated Press.
Columbus, January 22.—Here is a letter received in today's mail at the governor's office:
"Governor Willis:—I notice by the papers you had tonsillitis recently. I have a receipt for tonsillitis or quincy that is a sure cure and if used according to simple directions you need never suffer with it again and if you will send me a small figure all over effect velvet or Axminster rug, 12x15 feet, for my dining room I will send you the receipt and guarantee a sure cure. Your druggist can prepare it for you. I know you will thank me, and trusting you will take my offer." (Name of woman.)
The letter is an ordinary example of requests and complaints which reach the governor's office daily. Many show pathetic hallucinations. A few are threatening.
Most of the idiosyncratic epistles never reach the governor. They are side-tracked by Ralph Dodds, correspondence clerk, or by Captain Milletus Garner, the commission clerk. Occasionally one is shown to Governor Willis for his amusement.

MURDERER ARRAIGNED

Cleveland Man Is Brought Back From New York and Faces Court.

By Associated Press.

Ysleta, Texas, January 22.—
Douglas Downs, companion of Bert Akers who was killed yesterday by Mexican cattle and horse thieves just below the border of San Lorenzo, Chihuahua, declared today that five Mexicans fired two hundred or more shots at them.

He said neither he nor Akers was armed.

Downs said the Mexican who killed Akers first fired point blank at him (Downs), but missed.

EL PASO CITIZENS ROUSED TO FURY

By Associated Press.

El Paso, Texas, January 22.—
The tense situation here produced by the Santa Ysabel massacres more than a week ago, was completed today when the details of the killing of Bert Akers, an American rancher from Ysleta, Texas, became known.

Akers was slain by Bernardo Duran, a Mexican cattle rustler, in a fight that occurred yesterday a few miles below the border.

With a companion, Douglas Downs, and a Mexican police official, Akers sought to recover cattle stolen last Monday, when Duran, with his brother, opened fire from the roof of their house.

General Gavira, commandant at Juarez, gave out a statement which he said covered the circumstances of the fight, as they were related to him by Bernardo Duran and his brother and by a squad of Carranza soldiers who were near the scene of the fray and who arrested the Mexicans.

General Gavira declared that Duran claimed self defense. The general said that if found guilty, the Durans would receive prompt punishment.

COLD WAVE PROMISED

Sweeping Eastward

Check Floods.

By Associated Press.

Chicago, January 22.—A cold wave, said by the weather bureau to be sweeping eastward from the Rocky mountain region, today was held out as bringing hope for relief from flood conditions which prevailed in northern Illinois and neighboring states yesterday as the result of heavy rains, following a rapid rise in temperature.

Thousands of persons temporarily were made homeless, and the property loss is estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Joliet, Aurora and Elgin, Illinois, suffered most from the floods.

300 Feet Down the Mountain Side.

By Associated Press.

Seattle, Washington, January 22.—The Cascade Limited on the Great Northern Railroad, from Spokane, Washington, was struck by a snowslide near Corea Station this morning.

The train was standing still when hit. The dining car and day coach received the full force of the avalanche, and were carried down an embankment three hundred feet.

All the persons in the two cars were reported as killed or injured.

The train had been stopped by a small slide, which had covered the track. Workmen had just completed removing snow and debris from the rails, and the train was about to proceed, when an avalanche thundered down the mountainside.

The dining car and day coach were struck squarely and swept away. The other cars and engine were left on the track.

Corea, where the wreck occurred, is about 120 miles east of Seattle, and is at the loop of a big switchback.

It is the second station down the west slope from the Cascade tunnel, and Great Northern officials said it is almost the exact spot where a train was swept from the tracks February 28, 1910, with great loss of life.

The dining car of the train is reported burning.

The cars in the gulch are not covered by snow, as in the 1910 disaster. At that time, many of the dead were suffocated.

Cries for help from the cars in the gulch can be heard on the track above.

The first passenger reached in the day coach was a small boy.
He was severely injured. The next two passengers were dead.

Five employees in the dining car are believed to be dead.

Three hours after the wreck, it was impossible to say how many passengers were in the day

—Possibly fourteen dead in the Great Northern wreck at Corea, was the report received at 12:45
p. m. at the offices of Louis W.
Hill, president of the Great Northern Railroad.

Mr. Hill stated that reports received on the wreck up to this time were belated. Mr. Hill issued the following statement at 1 p. m.:

"The snowslide struck the train, throwing a sleeping car on its side and carrying the diner and chair car over the bank.

"The number of killed and injured is not positively known, but it is reported that the chair car contained eight or ten people, and the sleeping car six people—with employees and probably some passengers in the diner. The accident occurred about 7 a. m."

London, January 22.—The Balkans continue to take precedence in the war news, both Montenegro and Greece being points of notable interest.

The situation in each, however, is somewhat clouded by the scarcity of direct news and the decided conflict of such advices as are received.

Further reports regarding the resumption of hostilities between Montenegro and Austria, following a rejection of peace terms by the former, are lacking.

There is small disposition in Teutonic quarters even to admit that there has been any break in the negotiations.

Of the field of war in Asia, dispatches late last night from Petrograd claimed further successes for the Russians against the Turks. In the Caucasus campaign, the Russian official statement declaring that the Turkish army in the vicinity of Erzerum had been defeated and was retreating.

There is discussion in Germany of a separate peace between Germany and Belgium, and a London dispatch quotes an influential German newspaper as suggesting that Belgium ought not wait too long before taking up the subject as Belgium, which until now has been considered as an object of exchange by the German chancellor, would come to be considered a good prize.

able to Explain.

New York, January 22.—Fire of mysterious origin forced the Norwegian freight steamer Sygna to put back to port today, after having sailed yesterday with a large cargo consigned to the Russian government.

Officers of the steamer said they cannot explain how the blaze originated in a hold which contained only structural steel and railway material.

The fire is the latest of a long series of fires and explosions which have occurred on vessels shortly after leaving this port with cargoes for the allies.

SIX STATES HIT BY HEAVY STORM

Floods Do Great Damage In Oklahoma.

CENTRAL WEST HIT HARD

Hundreds Made Homeless and Train Service Demoralized as Result of Swollen Streams—Operators in Oil Fields Suffer Heavy Losses—Gigantic Ice Fields in Kansas River, Snow in Arizona.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Jan. 22.—Several persons were drowned, much property was destroyed and train service was demoralized in Oklahoma by swollen streams. The damage centered in Murray county and in the Healdton oil fields.

James Shennor of Sulphur, Okla., a wealthy business man, was drowned in Rock creek following a cloudburst. Mrs. Edward O. Cleveland and three of her children lost their lives in the destruction of their home north of Sulphur. Numerous other persons, marooned by the flood water, were rescued in boats.

In the Healdton oil fields operators and pipe line companies apparently suffered heavy losses from lightning. Nine oil tanks were burned, but wire communication was paralyzed before details could be obtained. McAlester reported that all train service north and west from there had been suspended because of extensive washouts and weakened bridges. A St. Louis & San Francisco passenger train was derailed between Schiller and Okmulgee, but none of the passengers were injured seriously.

Many Families Homeless

Ottawa, Ill., Jan. 22.—Hundreds of families have been driven from their homes, many bridges have been destroyed and a number of factories are closed as the result of flood which is sweeping through the Illinois and Fox river valleys. Great damage has been done around Ottawa and La Salle, Marseilles and Utica. Steve Bruno, 18, was drowned at La Salle in the Vermillion river, which is far beyond its bounds.

Snow Follows Rain

Douglas, Ariz., Jan. 22.—Heavy rains which began Wednesday and later turned into snow have fallen throughout Cochise county, isolating Douglas, Bisbee, Tombstone and other towns for 40 hours. Eight inches of snow fell here; at Pearce, 50 miles north, the snowfall was two and one-half feet, and at Rodeo, N. M., the depth was 18 inches.

Ice Fields in the Kansas River

Kansas City, Jan. 22.—Released by the warm rain, a gigantic ice field poured down the Kansas river. It struck the new Twenty-third street bridge, under course of construction, and carried away 120 feet of false work.

Ohio River Steamer Sinks

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 22.—The Ohio river steamer Bowling Green of the Evansville and Bowling Green line, sank her wharf here. It is reported that a number of persons were on board at the time.

APPALLING LOSSES IN FIGHT

Eastern Galicia Scene of Terrible Conflict.

London, Jan. 22.—The cessation, by reason of heavy casualties, of the Russian attacks against the Austro-Hungarians near the Bessarabian frontier, the capture by the Russians from the Turks of the town of Sultanabad, Persia, and the taking from the Germans by the British of additional towns in the Kamerun district of Africa are the principal features of the fighting as contained in the latest official communications.

There also have been small engagements in Russia around Pinsk and in the region of Czartorysk; artillery and mining operations along the front in France and Belgium, and a continuation of the artillery duels and occasional infantry attacks in the Austro-Italian theater. In none of these, however, has any great results been attained.

CONSULS ARE FREED FROM PRISON SHIP

Released Through Good Offices of America.

MUST QUIT THEIR POSTS

Were Placed Under Arrest at Salonica on Charge of Communicating Military Information to the Bulgarians. Charge Einstein, Head of American Legation at Sofia, Ordered to Give Up British Envoy.

Washington, Jan. 22.—The German, Austrian, Turkish and Bulgarian consuls at Salonica, who have been held under arrest by the entente allies on board a French warship in the harbor here, are to be released through the good offices of the United States.

The consuls were arrested soon after the military occupation of Salonica on the charge that they were communicating military information to the Bulgarians outside of the city to direct an attack on the town by enemy aeroplanes.

The condition of release will be that the consuls shall not resume their function in Salonica, but must return to their own countries. Arrangements already have been made for the return to Turkey of the Turkish consul by a devious route, which will take him by way of France or Italy, thence by rail to Switzerland, from which country he can find his way through Germany and Austria to Turkey.

The state department's activity in this case was exercised in pursuance of duty it assumed at the outbreak of war of looking after the interests of the citizens of most of the warring countries.

Charge Einstein, head of the American legation at Sofia, has been instructed by cable to surrender, if Bulgaria insists upon it, the British vice consul there, who took refuge in his quarters when Bulgaria ordered the arrest of enemy consular officers in retaliation for the seizure of the consuls at Salonica.

This action was taken some days ago and Great Britain has been notified. The vice consul fled to the home of the American charge and claimed asylum upon hearing of the arrest of his French colleague. He was received temporarily, and when the Sofia government demanded his surrender, Mr. Einstein cabled Washington for instructions.

After due consideration the state department held that unless it could be shown that the vice consul's life was involved in the surrender, he could not be given asylum. Nothing further has been heard from the case since this decision was communicated to the authorities in Sofia, and it is thought probable that the Bulgarian government chose to refrain from exercising its right pending the outcome of the state department's efforts to secure release of the Bulgarian consul at Salonica, which has now been successful.

PREPARE CALL FOR BIG MEET

Progressive Committee in Session In New York.

New York, Jan. 22.—The executive committee of the Progressive national committee is in session here. It is the purpose of the committeemen to prepare the call for the national convention at Chicago on June 7, and they expect to have it ready for publication a week from next Monday. Members present were George W. Perkins, Matthew Hale of Massachusetts, William Hamlin Childs and Elton H. Hooker of New York, Walter Brown of Ohio, Harold Ickes of Illinois, Herbert Knox Smith of Connecticut,

I. R. Kirkwood of Missouri and Chester H. Rowell of California.

Everyone of these committeemen reported to Chairman Perkins that sentiment in his state was overwhelmingly in favor of Colonel Roosevelt as a candidate for the presidency. "They first abhor, then endure, then embrace," shouted an enthusiastic member, paraphrasing Pope's line on vice. "We have a man; the Republicans haven't. Let them come and see us," was the terse comment of Mr. Perkins when he had carefully weighed all the nice things that were being said about the colonel. The name of Justice Hughes of the supreme court was discussed, but most of the committeemen are inclined to believe and to hope that Justice Hughes will not be disturbed and will refuse to enter the campaign lists. It was reported that enrollment is proceeding satisfactorily for the primaries at which delegates to the convention will be chosen and that the prospects are bright for a great showing at Chicago. The committee will meet again on Monday.

FAST LIFE

New York, Jan. 22.—Oscar Hammerstein, who made and lost a fortune in production of opera and vaudeville, was adjudged a bankrupt by Judge Julius M. Mayer in the United States district court. The division of the impresario's remaining assets among his creditors, will be taken care of by Stanley W. Dexter, the referee in bankruptcy designated by Judge Mayer. Several years ago Hammerstein, who was then producing opera in the Manhattan opera house, got over $1,000,000 from the Metropolitan Opera House company on his promise to get out of the operatic field and remain out until 1920. A great deal of the money he made by his withdrawal is said to have been lost by him in his London operatic venture. His recent attempt to give vaudeville in the Lexington Avenue opera house, however, put the finishing touches to his business difficulties.

Temperature Tumbling

During the past week the mercury has performed some climbing and tumbling feats in the thermometer tubes, that makes the spectacular rise and fall of some of the stock market prices seem common place in comparison.

Since Thursday of last week the temperature has moved rapidly down and up from 72 degrees above to 8 below zero and down again before the week was well passed to 70 degrees.

Even in this section of changeable weather the antics of the temperature during the last week have been remarkable. To say that the rapid and marked changes in weather conditions is responsible for a great deal of sickness is unnecessary. Grippe, colds, coughs and pneumonia are only some of the ills which people are compelled to combat almost wholly attributable to conditions.

From weather recording below zero to almost summer heat in a few days' time, is a menace to health. Folks cannot tell how to clothe themselves to meet conditions. During the last week we have all been either too hot or too cold.

In addition the warm winds and sunshine bring the vapor out of the frozen earth and with it from out of by ways, the nooks and corners a procession of disease germs which mean trouble.

Tax Rate Limit Law

Again the wail is going up from Ohio cities, especially the larger ones, about the shortage in revenues.

Each year the burdens of the Smith one per cent tax rate limit law becomes more difficult to bear, according to the complaining municipal authorities.

The tax gathering officials are almost beside themselves with the demands of the tax spending officials and legislators are being importuned to lay violent hands on the tax rate limit law and take it bodily off the statute books so the cities may have some relief.

All of the real estate in Ohio was reappraised in advance of the coming of the rate limit law and realty owners were given to understand that with their property placed on the duplicate at its full value in money the rate would be decreased in proportion to the increase in realty valuations. Not only that but that a rate limit law would be passed fixing a maximum beyond which tax rates could not go.

That promise was kept.

Now the movement is well under way, especially in the cities of Ohio, to take away the limit. That means the gathering in of a sum which meets the requirements of the tax spending officials and placing an added burden on real property.

Candidates for the legislature should be interrogated closely by the voters and their attitude on the rate limit law clearly ascertained before they are sent to the capital to enact laws. Care should be taken by the voters in the small cities and rural districts that no man who favors the repeal of that law is chosen a member of the legislature.

The rate limit law is the only safeguard realty owners have.

In the face of tremendous increases in the tax duplicate throughout the state, the tax rate has risen steadily and the only obstacle in the way of a higher climb for the rate is the rate limit law.

It should be preserved and it is not too early for real estate owners to be on their guard against an attack which is certain to come soon.

Montenegro Still Fights

Montenegro, the little nation across the sunny Adriatic Sea from Italy, nestled away in a little nook of the Balkan section, scorned the terms of surrender which Austria prescribed and elected to terminate the truce and continue the fight against great odds. The supposedly authentic reports of the surrender of the Montenegrins proved to have been unfounded.

If one can imagine the little nation, slipping away from the turmoil of Europe until she has her back to the sea and at her right hand Albania and Greece, directly in front Serbia and to the left Bosnia and Herzegovina, it will be understood why Montenegro never in all her long history, has been compelled to surrender. A little nation in an out of the way place, behind the nations whose power and wealth arouse the envy and jealousy and covetousness of the powerful nations, Montenegro has remained secure until this all-enveloping flame of war has consumed almost every nation of Europe.

Surrender to the central powers or a conclusion to continue the conflict means nothing, so far as this war is concerned, and little so far as the future of any European nation, save Montenegro itself, save possibly Italy. The surrender of Montenegro would mean the permanent establishment by Austria of the base directly across the Adriatic from Italy. A menace to the safety of Italy in the future if there are to be any more wars.

From Montenegro submarines and aeroplanes could be sent across the Adriatic to harass the Italians.

But Montenegro has not surrendered and even the most devout peace advocates must admire her courage to stand up against such odds and say "I dare you."

Poetry For Today

THE DREAMERS.

I like to think that high upon some star,
Mid pillared beauty all past dreamers are—

The souls that saw great visions for the world,
Who dare the heights and sunmost sails unfurled,

And, as Columbus never fainted at the helm,
But steered straight for the undiscovered realm,

Black through the night upon the winnowed wave,
Rebellious though all frightened spirit rave—

I like to think that all these prophets passed
To regions ready for their visions vast!

I like to think that music there is heard,
Such as our tiny hands have never stirred—

A symphony that rings upon the ear
As mighty as the clang of sphere on sphere,

A harmony by Thor-like hammers wrought,
Timed by the throbbing metronome of Thought;

Creating masterpieces for the universe,
In which the dreams of ages they immerse,

Until the planetary pulse will bring
To earth some echo of the song they sing!

I like to think that listening dreamers here
Will catch some message from that ringing sphere,

However faintly, yet will weave it in
An anthem loud above the idle din,

Until all men will hear its beat in awe
And nearer to world unison will draw.

The moving world will point the path to peace
And all the urge of armament will cease,

While nations will forget their warning hate
And fabrics, hitherto undreamed, create!

MODERN GREEKS.

They Show Little of the Grace of Their Famous Ancestors.

Against the background of antiquity it is easy to project the ties of sentiment which bind the life of the Greek of today to that of the classic worthies from whom he claims direct descent, and it was with only a slight shock that I learned that the man who brought me my morning coffee at the legation bore the tremendous name of Themistocles. And yet it is difficult to visualize the modern Athenian with those who once walked his streets.

Thinking of Homer, of Praxiteles and of Phidias, one looks for Helen, for Hermes and for Athena, but the only Helen I ever saw in Athens was an American girl, married to a member of the cabinet and whose golden hair, blue eyes and classic features made her at once the reigning hostess in the city. And it is only in the islands or deep in the country, where the Albanian flood which swept across the Attic plain has never reached, that one finds the facial lineaments and the bodily grace which the ancient sculptor has taught the modern world as being common to all Greeks of classic time.

This survival persists chiefly among the children, because incessant toil and scanty nourishment soon deprive both boys and girls of their native grace and stamp them with the ineradicable marks of a life of labor.—Former United States Minister to Greece George H. Moses in National Geographic Magazine.

PRECIOUS POSTAGE STAMPS.

Issues That Bring Joy to the Heart of the Philatelist.

One of the questions asked us most frequently is, Which is the rarest of all the stamps? There are not a few claimants for this honor, all of which are exceedingly rare, stamps of which but a single copy is known to exist. Indeed, there is evidence which leads us to believe that some stamps were printed and used of which no copies at all are known to be in existence.

Of those stamps of which only one copy is known, the first is a postmaster's provisional issued at Boscawen, N. H. Another is a stamp from British Guiana. Only one copy of this is known and is in a celebrated collection in Paris, probably the largest collection in the world.

In 1893 the Niger Coast Protectorate issued a series of surcharged stamps, all of which are scarce, and some of them are in the ranks of the world's greatest rarities. This refers especially to the twenty shilling values. Of the 20 shillings, surcharged in violet, only five copies were ever printed; of the vermilion surcharge, only two copies, and of the black surcharge, only one copy.

As there is and can be only one copy of this last stamp, it is justly entitled to be considered the rarest of all stamps. It probably would not sell so high as the better known and more popular "postoffice" stamps of Mauritius. Yet of these there are known fourteen copies of the penny and twelve of the twopenny.—St. Nicholas.

POPE BENEDICT XV. IS HARD WORKER

Rises at 6 and Is Frequently Engaged Up to Midnight.

TAKES HIS MEALS ALONE.

After Midday Refection the Pontiff Walks in Vatican Gardens if It Is Not Too Hot—Often Goes to the End, Where He Watches Traffic and People With Interest.

Rome.—Benedict XV. is one of the most energetic pontiffs who ever sat upon St. Peter's throne. He gets through more work in the day than most busy men in the outer world. He rises at 6 o'clock, summer and winter. As soon as he is dressed he says mass in his private chapel, assisted by one of his chaplains. After that is a frugal breakfast, consisting of an egg beaten up in a cup of milk—nothing else. Before 8 he is hard at work.

His first task is to read the daily papers. Though his secretaries always prepare for him what they consider the most interesting pieces of news, he prefers to read it first hand. The

POPE BENEDICT XV.

Catholic papers are soon done with. He spends far more time with the Italian Liberal and Democratic organs. At 9 o'clock the mail is brought in. Secretaries segregate it rapidly, submit the more important letters to the pope, and these occupy him till about 10 o'clock, when he receives the cardinal secretary of state.

At 10:30 the private and public audiences begin. Here Pope Benedict shows a marked difference from his predecessor, Pope Pius X., used to like to talk with everybody who came; none went away without a special word from him. But Benedict does not spend so much time on his visitors. Those whom mere curiosity has brought are soon dismissed. It is only in the case of an important person that he lingers in conversation. But even then the audiences last till midday, when the pope takes the principal meal of the day.

Pius X. always dined with one of his chaplains. When the present pope was elected there was much speculation as to whether he would follow that custom. But the order came from his major domo before the first meal that Cardinal Della Chiesa ate as pope to set his table for one person, and he always adheres to the rule of taking his meals alone. His midday meal—lunch or dinner, whichever you like to call it—consists of an Italian soup with plenty of macaroni and cheese, a course of meat, a couple of vegetables and fruit, with a glass of French wine—no more.

After this comes recreation. Until 2:30 or 3 he walks in his private apartments or, when the weather is not too hot, in the Vatican gardens. He goes on foot, unattended by guards or chamberlains, and walks briskly. He often goes to the end of the gardens, to the wall that looks on the Piazza del Resorgimento, Rome's most modern neighborhood, and people down below in the palaces nearest the pontifical gardens can see the pope watching the traffic with evident interest.

At 3 p. m. he goes back to work. Reports, instructions to his nuncios and various correspondence are now attended to. This goes on until 6, when more audiences are held. But these are of a private or intimate nature and are never reported in the Osservatore Romano, the Vatican organ.

It is at this hour that Benedict XV. receives his cardinals, the higher officials at the papal court and, very often, Italians who have some political or diplomatic position in the secular government and who cannot therefore go to the Vatican officially. At these evening audiences the pope learns more of what goes on in public affairs outside his domain than at any other time. It is in many respects the most important part of his day.

At 8 the audiences are closed. The pope then takes a supper of eggs beaten up in milk and talks to chosen members of the household for half an hour. And then to work again. Very often the three windows of the pontifical study are lighted up as late as midnight.

No village priest works harder than Benedict XV.

MONSTER WATER BUGS.

One of Them Can Grip and Easily Put to Death a Frog.

The frog's worst enemy is a monster water bug which inhabits the tropical waters of both North and South America. This water bug is one of the largest aquatic insects. It is called a giant by comparison with other bugs, but it is much smaller than any of the frogs on which it preys. Yet so powerful are its legs that it is sure death for the frog that gets within their grasp.

The two principal joints of the forelegs fold down on one another, and the stouter of these two has a groove along its front to receive the sharp inner edge of the next joint, much as the blade of a pocketknife folds down. In the pools and the estuaries of tidal waters these giant bugs hide among stones and rubbish, from which they dart rapidly to attack passing frogs and occasionally fishes. The victim is clasped by the bug's forelegs, and the deadly beak between its two compound eyes is plunged deep into the flesh.

This is not a case of taking toll merely of the victim's blood, as in the case of many other sucking insects; it is speedily followed by the death of the bug's victim. This appears to be due to a copious supply of liquid from around the base of the beak, which finds its way into the puncture.

Professor Lucy has traced this to a pair of glands in the head of the giant water bug. Their secretion produces death very quickly.—New York American.

ANSWERS ARE FILED IN TWO INTERESTING CASES

Board of Education Claims Plaintiff C. L. Anders Not Entitled to Compensation When School House Burns — Jeffersonville Woman Denies Allegations Made By Husband in Divorce Suit.

The Board of Education of Green township, defendants in an action filed by C. L. Anders in August, 1911, wherein the plaintiff asked for judgment in the sum of $416 alleged to be due him as a result of contract made with the Board to teach school at Sub-District No. 4, in Green township, have filed answer to the petition of Mr. Anders.

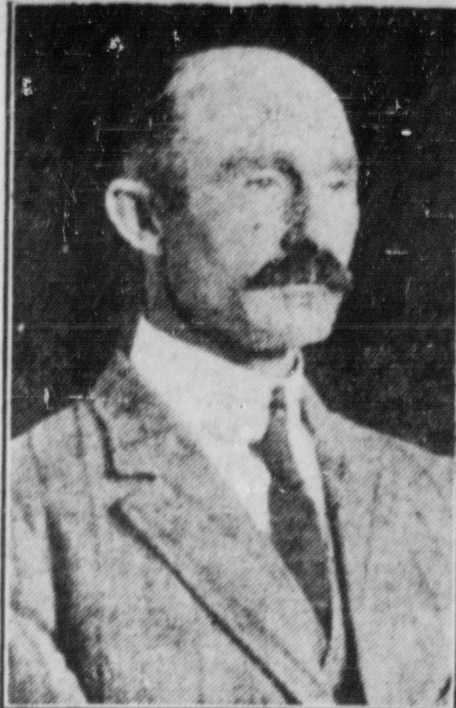

The defendants, who are represented by Post & Reid, admit that the plaintiff was employed to teach the school in question, and that the total salary would have been $416, but state that in September, just about the time the school was to open, the building caught fire and was burned down, so that it was necessary to transfer the pupils of the sub-district to another sub-district. Defendants also state that they had no control over and were not responsible for the destruction of the building.

Defendants further allege that the plaintiff owns and operated farm in Green township during the period when he would have been employed had the building not been destroyed, and that he conducted the farm so that he suffered no loss. Defendants ask that the suit be dismissed at the cost of the plaintiff.

The other answer is made by the defendant in the case of Bernard Smith against Edith Smith, who were married August 31, 1913 and lived at Jeffersonville.

The defendant denies virtually every claim made by the plaintiff and states that the year following their marriage the plaintiff became broken in health and afflicted in mind, and was removed to a Columbus sanitarium for several months. That prior to his afflictions they had lived happily together, and that since his afflictions he has refused to live with her. She asks that he be restrained from selling or encumbering certain realty valued at $1,000 and located in Quay county, New Mexico, and realty valued at $3,000 in Jeffersonville. Custody of their child and reasonable alimony are asked. Post & Reid represent the defendant.

RUNS PEACH TREE TEST WITH SIXTY VARIETIES

Kaizes Hogs, Corn and Tobacco, With Fruit as Side Line.

Hogs, corn and tobacco, with fruit a profitable side line, are specialties on the farm of Frank Blackford of Eldorado, who will speak during the two days of the coming Farmers' Institute. He has been engaged in farmers' institute work eleven years. "I am conducting an experiment on sixty varieties of peaches, eight trees of each variety. I want to find which variety does the best and suits the market. The best trees of the best variety I shall use to bud stock for future planting," relates Mr. Blackford. Among the subjects of Mr. Blackford's lectures are "The Farmer's Garden and Orchard," "Starting a Commercial Orchard," "Hog Production," the "Tobacco Crop." He will also talk on "The Social Side of Farm Life," "The Business Farmer," and "Educational and Cultural Advantages of Farm Life."

GREAT GRIPPE EPIDEMIC IS ON DECLINE

While there are still probably several thousand cases of bad colds and gripe in the city and county, reports indicate that the epidemic—the greatest ever known in the county—is now decreasing, probably due to the recent cold weather.

However, while the epidemic apparently is decreasing, the great variation in the weather and the unusual wet weather is generally termed ideal gripe weather, and citizens generally are exercising a great deal of caution to escape the epidemic of colds and gripe.

During the present month many deaths have occurred in Fayette county, particularly among the aged, as a result of gripe and complications, and scores of persons have been near the shadow of the grave with pneumonia and complications coming from bad colds and the gripe.

Physicians generally have been kept unusually busy in all parts of the city and county, calls coming in at all hours in the night and from every neighborhood, where persons suffering from the epidemic have grown worse as a result of contracting additional cold, or the appearance of some of the dreaded complications.

Not only have the public schools been greatly depleted as a result of the epidemic, but there has been a noticeable falling off in the attendance at public gatherings.

It is estimated that when the epidemic was at its worst, fully one-third of the citizens of the city and county were sufferers.

LOCALS LOSE TO SPRINGFIELD

Washington High lost in the basket ball game with Springfield High at Springfield, Friday night, the Springfielders easily winning from the Washingtonians.

Following is the write-up of the game carried by the Springfield Sun:

"The Springfield high school basketball team broke their losing streak last evening and walloped the Washington C. H. five by the one-sided score of 65 to 21. It was the first killing for the local team during 1916, the other three games going on the wrong side of the ledger. A large crowd filled the gallery, cheering for the locals, who kept out in front in the running.

"Much time was devoted by Coach Shively to pass work during the week and this fine point of the game was in evidence at all times as the locals passed the ball up and down the floor at will. One lacking feat was the basket shooting but another week will put them in shape for that. Many times easy chances with a clear shot were lost, the ball rolling around the basket instead of dropping in as intended.

The guards did much of the basket shooting, running down the floor and taking a try at the cage. Burdett and Bird each made 10 baskets. Nelson played a good game at center.

Gregg at right forward for the Washington team, was the bright and shining star, making 19 of the 21 points his team secured. Fourteen of them were made by seven baskets and the other five on fouls.

Field Goals: Gregg 7, Lewis 1, Littleton 2, Young 4, Nelson 5, Bird 10, Burdett 19.

Foul Goals: Gregg 5, Burdett 3. Referee: James Long.

LEAVE FOR THE EAST TO COMPLETE PLANS

Mr. Wm. M. Campbell, manager of the Dahl Millikan branch of the Midland Grocery Co., Mr. C. C. Benbow, of Columbus, and Mr. Chas. Wiseman, traveling passenger agent of the B. & O., leave tonight for Washington, D. C., Atlantic City and Philadelphia to complete contracts and arrange details for the mammoth annual outing of the Midland Grocery Co., the coming summer.

Arrangements have already been made with the B. & O. for seven solid vestibuled trains, of the highest class equipment the B. & O. carries, each train made up of ten pullmans and a diner. Two of these trains will leave from the Washington C. H. station, one from Blancheseter, one from Chillicothe and three from Columbus.

LOCAL MAN'S NAME ON SPEAKERS' LIST

Mr. Frank M. Allen of this city, one of the district superintendents of rural schools, is down on the program of The National Association of State Supervisors and Inspectors of rural schools, to be held in Detroit, Michigan, February 23rd, to 25th. The association will hold two sessions one in the Statler Hotel and another in the Teller Hotel.

The program contains the names of men of national and state reputation in educational work, men of world wide fame as educators will be gathered together from every state of the union.

Mr. Allen is one of the men announced to lead the discussion following an address by M. S. Pittman State Supervisor of rural schools of Oregon on "Through Field Supervision."

BOY SAVES HOUSE FROM DESTRUCTION

Thursday night while "Jimmie" Baughn, a Herald carrier boy, son of Patrolman Baughn, was on his way home from attending the basket ball game at the Y. M. C. A., he discovered flames leaping from the roof of the home of William Bennett.

As the occupants of the house were asleep and could not be aroused in a hurry, Jimmie aroused some of the neighbors, a ladder was procured and the flames which were rapidly gaining headway, were quickly extinguished without the aid of the fire department.

The prompt action of Jimmie saved the house from great damage or total destruction, and had the slumbering occupants not been warned they might have perished in the flames.

THIEVES ENTER PLEAS OF GUILTY

From London comes the report that E. A. Swaney and Foster Thomas, the two Sedalia youths who were arrested for the theft of some 25 bushels of clover seed from the Vent & Riddle elevator at Sedalia, most of which seed was sold at the Fayette Grain Company's office in this city, have entered pleas of guilty to the charge and have involved others in the theft.

The young men, owing to their youth, faced the juvenile court in London, and disposition of their case will be made Monday, when they probably will be sentenced to the Mansfield reformatory.

INVESTING MONEY.

Choose Between Speculative Risks and Safe Securities.

A famous capitalist, writing to Ida M. Tarbell in the American Magazine, says:

"There is no man in the world who can honestly say that he can invest money and be certain of permanent large returns. The big dividends come from speculative ventures, and nobody should make them unless he is willing and able to lose all he puts in.

"I had a thousand dollars sent me today from a woman who wants 20 per cent. I cannot place it so that I can be sure she will permanently get 6 per cent. It is all she has in the world. I have no right to lose it, and I shall not do it. I shall return the money. If she could afford to lose it, that would be another thing.

"There is only one safe way for people to invest, and that is to choose sound, conservative bonds or stocks, and that after consultation with trustworthy brokers or bankers. In the long run it will be worth much more to them than the uncertain large dividend, but nobody believes me. They all think that if I would I could make a fortune for them. When I send this thousand dollars back the last thing this woman will do will be to thank me."

DRY CLEANING AT HOME.

A Mixture That Is Said to Do the Work Easily and Harmlessly.

Make a stock solution of eight ounces strong ammonia, half an ounce of chloroform and half an ounce of ether. Cork tightly and keep away from the face, says the Scientific American. Dissolve a bar of naphtha soap in three gallons of hot water, add half a teaspoonful each of baking soda, salt and alum and three tablespoonfuls of the ammonia-chloroform-ether mixture.

To clean oriental or other rugs to their original brightness make a lather and dip a scrub brush in it, shaking out superfluous water. Go over the rug with this brush, and the lather dries out almost immediately. No harm whatever is done to the best oriental rug.

To sponge spots from clothing, even delicate silk and upholstery, dip a soft sponge in the lather, wring as dry as possible and sponge off the spot.

To wash sweaters, blankets or other flannels let the mixture become nearly cold, soak the garments in it half an hour or less, squeeze dry, rinse in clear water, squeeze dry again and hang up.

The various ingredients used not only remove grease and dirt, but set and brighten colors.

No Eye For Color.

Appropos of the amusing comments on academic costume that so often reveal popular ignorance of the symbolism of hoods and gowns is the following story, told by a contributor to the Liverpool Post:

A friend of mine, says he, is a curate in a local suburban parish. Some little time back he went up to Oxford to take his master of arts degree and the following Sunday appeared in the pulpit resplendent in his new master of arts hood. A few nights later he was dining in the house of a prominent parishioner and was amazed to hear his hostess pleasantly remark:

"Mr. X., that new hood of yours doesn't suit you at all. I can't imagine why you, with your complexion, chose red of all colors in the world. A myrtle green or an old gold would have suited you much better and would have been far more effective. You men never know how to dress yourselves!"

Fanny Dickens.

Fanny, the sister of Charles Dickens, was one of the first students entered at the old Royal Academy of Music when it opened its doors at Tenterden street in 1823, and at that time the students lived at the academy, only going home for the week end. "Every Sunday," Dickens told Forster, "I was at the academy at 9 o'clock in the morning to fetch her (Fanny), and we walked back there together at night." And the Sunday itself the two spent—in the Marshalsea prison, where their father and mother then resided, owing to Mr. Dickens having "failed to propitiate his creditors." While her father was still in prison Fanny won a prize at the academy, and the future novelist, then engaged in pasting labels on blacking pots at 7 shillings a week, was present to see her receive it—Westminster Gazette.

RONALD NICHOLS, STRONG SPEAKER HEADS INSTITUTE

Citizen of Washington and Fayette county are taking much interest in the coming Community Efficiency Institute, which will be held in this city beginning February 4th and closing February 13th, and which will be headed by Mr. Ronald A. Nichols.

Mr. Nichols discovered Harold Bell Wright, the novelist whose work lead "best sellers" whenever a new one is brought out.

Readers of Wright's novels will be particularly interested in seeing and hearing the man who found the distinguished novelist a discouraged boy and inspired him to achieve world-wide success.

Nichols' claim to distinction, however, does not rest upon that notable incident, for he is his own right one of the popular lecturers of the present day, a man of fine personality, full of oratorical fire, magnetic and convincing. Nature has endowed him with a splendid oratorical equipment, a splendid body and a winning voice. He is over six feet in height, weighs over 200 pounds and is muscled like a "white hope."

Nichols fairly radiates good humor and inertia fees from him as from a pestilence. A lazy man can't hear him without wanting to go out and build a Cheops pyramid or dig a Panama canal. There's nothing dry or didactic about his platform utterances. They have punch and pepper in them. They please while they pound home an uplifting message.

LOCAL MAN SAW REMARKABLE SIGHT

Mr. W. W. Hamilton of this city, is home from a trip through the south, and was in Hopewell, the mushroom Du Pont powder town, when a train of 47 cars containing gun cotton was shipped from that place and started on its way toward Russia.

The train is the same that passed over the N. & W. through this state this week, and the shipment was valued at $2,000,000. Ten armed men guarded the shipment. The cars were labeled "brick," "tile," and the like.

The shipment was made across the country to Seattle, Washington and will be shipped from thence to Russia, the distance of 20,000 miles being chosen rather than trusting the shipment to the mercies of the undersea craft between this country and Russia via the British Isles.

DIES IN CLINTON FUNERAL HELD HERE

The death of Mr. John G. Reardon occurred at the home of his son, Mr. J. E. Reardon, in Wilson township, Thursday morning. The deceased was 71 years old and is survived by two brothers, Mr. Edward Reardon and Mr. Daniel Gleason, and one son, Mr. J. F. Reardon, at whose home he died.

The funeral will be held Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at St. Coleman's Catholic Church, Washington C. H.—Wilmington News.

BROWN COUNTY PEOPLE ARE INTERESTED

Of special interest to Fayette countians, formerly residents of Brown county, is the announcement that Vice-president Thomas R. Marshall of the United States, through his representative, John M. Markley, of Brown county, has filed with Secretary of State Hildebrandt his declaration of candidacy for re-election. Five citizens of Brown county signed his declaration.

Judge Markley, father of John Markley, formerly held court often in this city. His grandmother, who was also the mother of Vice-president Marshall, was a sister of General Grant.

WILLIS JONES WILL CREATE A TRUSTEESHIP

The will of the late Willis Jones was filed in the probate court at London, this week, and Clark Murray is named executor of the will and will act as trustee of the estate.

The residence property in Mt. Sterling is bequeathed to the widow. The three elevators may be leased for one year, but at the expiration, of that time they are to be sold. The two farms on the Waterloo pike, one of which is located in Fayette county, are to be conducted under the direction of the trustee, and the profits divided among the widow and two children.

All property except the residence and two farms are to be sold and the proceeds divided among the widow and two children. The trusteeship is similar to that created by the late Humphrey Jones, and is to continue until the death of the widow, and until the son is 35 years of age.

Mr. Jones was born on a farm in Fayette county and attended school in northern Fayette.

In Social Circles

Mrs. Frank L. Stutson and daughter, Miss Stutson, charmingly filled the role of hostesses at one of the most perfectly appointed and beautiful bridge parties of the winter season, Friday afternoon.

An exquisite silver basket of shell pink carnations, roses, hyacinths and narcissi, with gauze bow rising from the handle, and clusters of flowers in faultless arrangement, gave artistic touches to the beautiful home, the setting for an unusual array of handsome afternoon toilets.

So admirably did the spacious rooms, opening into each other, lend themselves to the occasion that a hundred society matrons and maids were comfortably seated for the bridge game.

Mrs. Stutson, looking very handsome in a gown of black moire, black net and silver lace, welcomed the guests with her always gracious cordiality.

Miss Stutson was extremely pretty in a Greek tunic gown of granite and Georgette crepe, with corsage bouquet of pink rose buds and white hyacinths.

Receiving with the hostesses was Miss Ruth Stinson, of LaFayette, Ind., very attractive in a girlish gown of apple green brocade silk, with bodice and sleeves of white chiffon and frills of the green.

There were no prizes and following a brilliant series of games, an elaborate collation was served.

The Friday afternoon Kensington club was pleasantly entertained by Mrs. George Gregg.

A dainty refectory interspersed merry chat over the fancy work.

Mrs. Ella Cook, assisted by her daughter, Miss Marie, entertained at a most enjoyable dinner Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Adison Hays, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hays and son Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Rush Hays, Mr. and Mrs. Alf Stookey and Miss Eva Lauderman, of New Holland.

Mrs. Arthur Leland and little son John Arthur, returned Saturday afternoon from a week's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Squires, in Greenfield.

Albert Briggs was the guest of Paul Hughey, in Circleville Friday night.

Mrs. Clay Johnson returned to her home in Dayton Friday evening, leaving her little son, Robert Earl, for a visit with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. McCoy.

Miss Maude Patterson returns to her home in Columbus, Sunday after a two weeks' visit with her mother, Mrs. Harriet Patterson.

Mrs. Clifton Walling, of Muncie, Ind., has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Mary Cleveland, is spending Sunday with her cousin, Miss Marie Melvin.

Mr. Fred Hillery came home Friday night from Zanesville, where he has been connected with the Ohio State Telephone Co., for some months.

UNABLE TO TALK FOR FIVE MONTHS

A case of unusual interest which has come up before the State Library Board of Awards is that of Mr. Emery White, who has been unable to speak except in a whisper since last September, owing to injuries received while working with heavy timber at the Willis Lumber Mill.

The accident, while not deemed serious at the time, affected Mr. White's general health as well as causing the loss of his voice.

Recently at times he was unable to even whisper and so serious became his condition that X-Ray pictures were taken Friday by Dr. H. L. Stitt at his office. These pictures showed that the joints of the neck had been dislocated and were pressing on a nerve controlling the vocal chords.

A cure can only be effected by an operation which Mr. White expects to undergo as soon as arrangements can be made by the State Commission.

LOCAL WHOLESALE MEN FIGURE IN ORGANIZATION

The annual meeting of the Midland Grocery Co., in Columbus this week, wound up a very satisfactory year's business.

The directors elected and organized for the coming year were as follows:

Mr. A. S. Hammond, of Columbus, President; Mr. Wm. M. Campbell, manager of the Dahl-Millikan branch of this city, vice-president; Mr. H. B. Dahl, treasurer; Mr. C. C. Benbow, secretary; Mr. Perin Monypenny.

ACCEPTS CALL

Rev. Harry H. Hadley, son of Hon. and Mrs. H. L. Hadley, of this city rector of the St. Paul's Episcopal church of Martins Ferry, will announce to his congregation Sunday morning that he has accepted the call to St. James' church at Zanesville, one of the biggest churches in the Southern Ohio diocese.

FUNERAL SERVICES LARGELY ATTENDED

The funeral services of Mr. Benjamin Mershon were largely attended at the Wesley Chapel, Saturday morning, lodge brethren of the Knights of Pythias of this city and the Modern Woodmen of Good Hope joining with the neighbors and friends in showing farewell respect.

Rev. Wm. Boynton Gage of the First Presbyterian church, officiated and Mr. Troy sang two solos, "No Burdens Yonder," and "After Good Night, Good Morning."

The K. of P. closed the services with their beautiful ritual service.

The pallbearers were chosen from the two orders, with which Mr. Mershon had been identified, the Modern Woodmen represented by Messrs. Harvey Smalley, Chas. Walker, Erk Parrett, of Good Hope; the K. of P. by Messrs. Floyd Jacobs, Clarence Shoppeshear, W. D. Chaney.

Among the array of handsome flowers were designs from both orders, neighbors, relatives and friends.

Mr. Mershon leaves three sisters, Mrs. Nelle Lee, of California, who was unable to be here; Mrs. Margaret Hoover, of Bowersville; Mrs. Elizabeth Davidson of this city. Also in attendance from a distance were a granddaughter, Miss Mable Hoover of Bowersville; Messrs. Chas. and Frank Gossett, Greenfield; Grant Scott, Columbus; Dan Kearns and Nate Haynes, Ridgeway, O.

PLAN ENTERTAINMENT AT INSTALLATION

The Sons of Veterans held the annual installation of officers at Memorial hall Friday night. Col. Frank M. Kennedy acted as installing officer and had charge of the interesting ceremonies.

The following officers were installed: J. M. Hartman, Post Commander; Robert Whitmer, Sr., vice; George A. Robinson, Jr., vice; J. C. Murphy, secretary; Glenn Rodgers, treasurer; W. S. Hutchison; A. J. Thompson, Wirt Compton, camp council.

The Sons of Veterans are planning for a Lincoln entertainment on Lincoln's birthday, the eleventh of February, to which the old soldiers and the auxiliary G. A. R. organizations will be invited.

WELCOME NEWS TO PRESBYTERIANS

Rev. Wm. Boynton Gage has announced that Rev. Charles Shaw, of Cleveland, will be here the week of February 21st to begin special meetings at the First Presbyterian church.

The Rev. Shaw conducted a most pleasing series of meetings here two years ago and is an eloquent preacher as well as a deeply spiritual man.

Sunday morning and evening the brother of Rev. Gage, President Harry M. Gage, of Huron College, will fill the Presbyterian pulpit.

ROADS CUT THROUGH AUTOMOBILES STICK

The roads in many places are cut through and traveling is very disagreeable. Numerous instances of automobiles sticking fast are reported Saturday. Rural carrier Thompson was one of the auto drivers who stuck, and a machine sent to his aid also stuck.

The Sabina undertaker, who brought a corpse to this city from near Wilmington, Saturday morning, nearly stuck fast a number of times.

THOUSANDS VIEW THE ELKS' ELK

Since the live elk was brought to this city by the Washington Lodge of Elks, thousands of persons have viewed the big fellow in his temporary home at the Airdome, where the elk is eating hay, cabbage, apples and the like.

No admission is charged to see the elk, and nearly every hour in the daytime since the elk was confined in the place, a stream of humanity has passed along, taken a peep at the elk, and moved onward.

Facts About the Sun.

Scientists estimate the volume or size of the sun at more than 1,000,000 times that of the earth, its mass at more than 300,000 times and its density about 50 per cent more than water, but they have not attempted to express its weight in figures. They estimate that the attraction of gravitation alone at the surface of the sun is twenty-seven times that of the earth, so that a 200 pound man on the earth would weigh more than 5,000 pounds at the sun, provided he could stand the temperature long enough to be weighed.

MEXICO PLANS TO EXTEND RAILWAYS

Carranza Government Considering Construction of Lines.

GIVING OF WORK ONE IDEA

Inspector of Mexican Consulates Declares Helping of Laborers One of Main Purposes—Some Roads Started Before Trouble Began—One Will Parallel Rio Grande.

San Antonio, Tex.—It is stated by Rafael E. Musquiz, inspector of Mexican consulates, who has arrived here direct from the City of Mexico, that the de facto government of his country has under consideration plans for the early construction of several thousand miles of railway. One of the main purposes of the proposed work is to give employment to great numbers of laborers who are in need of help of this sort. At the same time the importance of opening for development wide stretches of country that are now lacking in transportation facilities is not lost sight of.

According to Mr. Musquiz, northern Mexico is to be especially favored in the matter of obtaining new lines of railway. One of the most important of these projects has for its route the isolated stretch of border territory between Nuevo Laredo and Piedras Negras, paralleling the Rio Grande. This proposed "picket line" road will be extended later from Nuevo Laredo to a connection with the Matamoros-Monterrey division of the National Railways of Mexico, thus forming an all rail route between Matamoros and Piedras Negras, opposite Eagle Pass, Tex., about 500 miles.

The plans also provide for the construction of a railroad from Monclova, Coahuila, to the city of Chihuahua, a distance of about 450 miles, traversing a region rich in coal deposits and precious minerals; there are also many large ranches along the route. The construction of this road was projected by a syndicate of American capitalists at the time the Madero revolution was started, a concession for the enterprise having been granted by the Diaz administration.

The branch line of the National Railways that runs from Monclova to Cuatro Ciénegas, General Carranza's home town, in the state of Coahuila, is to be extended to the mining town and district of Sierra Mojada, a distance of about seventy miles, Mr. Musquiz says. At Sierra Mojada the new line will connect with the Mexican Northern railroad, which runs to Escalon, where it connects with the Chihuahua division of the National Railways.

The construction of a branch line of the Torreón-Piedras Negras division of the National railways from Allende to Las Vacas, opposite Del Rio, Tex., about seventy-five miles, is already in progress, according to Mr. Musquiz.

The construction of the Tampico-Mexico City "cut off" line is to be resumed very soon. This project, in connection with the proposed railway that is to be built between Tampico and Matamoros, opposite Brownsville, 315 miles, is perhaps one of the most important of all the railway enterprises which the de facto government now has under consideration. Its fulfillment will mean the establishment of a new and direct rail route between the United States and the Mexican capital, reducing the distance about 200 miles, as compared with the shortest of the existing lines. The "cut off" road was under construction when the revolutionary troubles began, considerable grading having been done on the Tampico end.

Another important railroad project that was abandoned on account of the internal strife is to be revived. It is that of a connecting line from a point on the National Tehuantepec railroad and Campeche, where connection will be made with the United Railways of Yucatan. This road will be about 450 miles long.

SQUIRRELS' DEATHS PUZZLING

Folks About Blue Ridge Mountains Think Chestnut Blight Is Cause.

Waynesboro, Pa.—The squirrels are said to be dying off in droves in the Blue Ridge mountains to the east of Waynesboro and on down through the Catoctin range in Frederick county.

Bunches of dead foxes and gray squirrels are being found on the ground by woodchoppers, chestnut hunters and others.

The condition is so exceptional that the folks about the mountain are unable to account for it except on the theory that the animals have been poisoned by the chestnut blight that has been raging in the Blue Ridge chain for the past year, destroying thousands of trees.

Disraeli and the Editor.
Disraeli would dearly have liked to suspend the London Globe years ago when that paper, then a Whig organ, fell foul of him over his "Vindication of the English Constitution." Few editors have ever been so roughly abused as in Disraeli's letter to the Times: "It is not my passion for notoriety that has induced me to tweak the editor of the Globe by the nose and to inflict sundry kicks upon the baser part of his base body, to make him eat dirt and his own words, fouler than any filth, but because I wished to show to the world what a miserable poltroon, what a craven dillard, what a literary scarecrow, what a mere thing, stuffed with straw and rubbish, is the sordid director of public opinion and official organ of Whig politics."—London Opinion.

Chicago Bandit Makes His Escape With $900.

HAD WOMAN ACCOMPLICE

Enters Office of Touring Agent in Business District While Day's Receipts Are Being Counted, Orders Everybody to Stand Aside, Shoots Employee and Grabs Money From the Counter—Escapes in Automobile.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Policeman B. A. Johnson was shot and killed and Cashier E. L. Walsh seriously wounded by a daring bandit, who held up and robbed the offices of Thomas Cooke & Sons, tourist agents, 15 East Jackson boulevard. The robber escaped with $900 in cash after forcing a chauffeur to drive him from the scene of the holdup.

A woman accomplice sat in an automobile near the curbstone, jumped from the motor and disappeared in the crowd. The shooting caused the wildest panic. The ticket office is but a few feet east of State street.

The cashier was counting over his receipts. "Hands up, everybody!" ordered the highwayman as he came forward with a revolver in his hand. "Get over on this side and stand in line," was his next command. Walsh started to reach for a revolver. Immediately there was a report and Walsh fell with a bullet in his chest. The robber seized the pile of bills, tucked them into his pocket and backed towards the door.

The report of the revolver had attracted the attention of passersby. One of the crowd ran to the street crossing and summoned Policeman Johnson. Johnson reached the doorway just as the robber was stepping out. As Johnson started to enter the robber fired, the bullet passing through his heart. Johnson fell dying on the doorstep. By this time the street was almost impassable. Women had rushed screaming into doorways. Those nearest the ticket office were fighting to get back.

The robber saw that it was impossible for him to reach the machine in which the woman was waiting with the engine running. He ran east, where another machine was standing. He jumped into the seat beside the driver and ordered him to drive away. A mile away he jumped out and disappeared. The driver reported to the police and convinced them that he did not know the robber and did not know that the place had been robbed until he returned to the scene.

The woman who had driven to the ticket office with the highwayman waited until she saw he was unable to reach her an account of the dense crowd on the sidewalk and street. She did not attempt to drive away, but stepped from the machine and mingled with the crowd, before it was known that she had come to the place with the bandit.

Policeman Johnson was taken to St. Luke's hospital. He was dead before he was carried from the ambulance.

CAN'T SEE THEODORE

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Jan. 22.—"With Colonel Roosevelt on the Republican ticket I would not hesitate to say that the Republican party would be beaten," said former President William H. Taft, when interviewed by the press board of Vassar college. "I am not only keeping out of the race, but I am kept out of it. With Mr. Wilson running for re-election, a Republican president will be re-elected."

Mr. Taft said that although the president minimized the question of preparedness a year ago, he made it the chief subject of his message this year. He declared that he believed it would be difficult to put Mr. Wilson's plan in operation, saying that it would take $260,000,000 to carry it out. Mr. Taft said that a large navy was the most important feature of national preparedness plans. Asked if conscription was apt to be made a party issue, Mr. Taft replied: "They say I am not a politician, but I know what would happen to the party that tried to make it an issue."

WILL ASK RAISE

Indianapolis, Jan. 22.—It was learned from leaders of the United Mine Workers of America, now in biennial convention in this city, that those in control of the organization expect the convention to adopt a scale for the bituminous coal fields which will call for at least 10 cents a ton increase in wages. There are resolutions before the scale committee for action which call for increases all the way from 5 cents to 20 cents. It was said, but it is not expected that the committee will recommend a higher increase than 10.

HOUGH SUGGESTS MORE STATE POWER

Washington, Jan. 22.—The next Ohio legislature will enact a law creating a state constabulary, if it heeds a recommendation which Adjutant General Benson W. Hough intends to make. General Hough arrived in Washington to transact business before the war department and announced that it is his purpose to seek the creation of a state constabulary such as Pennsylvania has. He is opposed to the present system, which makes the militia do strike and police

Bope's Successor Named.

Columbus, O., Jan. 22.—George H. Hamilton of Newark will succeed George W. Bope of Columbus as state inspector of workshops and factories. Hamilton is an assistant state fire marshal at an annual salary of $1,200. He will get $3,000 in his new job. He was an applicant when Bope was first appointed. He is a former glass-blower.

Hotel Destroyed.

Alliance, O., Jan. 22.—An exploding gasoline stove in the apartments of John Thomas at Bergholz ignited the Commercial hotel and it was burned to the ground with $25,000 loss. The drug store of S. M. Carson and the restaurant of Harold Carson were badly damaged but the building was partially saved. George Saltsman and Mrs. S. G. Carson and Mrs. Moore were burned. The total loss may reach $25,000.

Arrange for Delegates.

Columbus, Jan. 22.—The Republican state central committee has sent out instructions authorizing the Republican central committee of each county to proceed to divide its county into districts for representation at the state convention, June 21, in Columbus. There is to be one delegate for every 500 votes cast for Governor Willis in 1914. The delegates from these districts are to be elected at the primary, April 25.

No Violence Attempted.

Urbana, O., Jan. 22.—One hundred striking machinists of the Urbana Tool company gathered outside of the factory here when it had been reported that the company would put a score of strikebreakers to work. The entire police force was called, but no violence was attempted. The company changed its plan and did not attempt to operate the factory, but announced that a full force of nonunion men will be put to work Monday.

AFTER USURERS

Washington, Jan. 22.—Legislation that will give the government power to prohibit all national banks from charging usurious rates of interest on loans may result from testimony given by the house committee on rules by John S. Williams, comptroller of the currency. Mr. Williams appeared before the committee to urge favorable action on a resolution providing for an inquiry into charges that many national banks exact extortionate rates of interest far beyond the legal rates permitted in the states in which they do business. He told the committee he could punish national banks guilty of charging usurious rates by bringing suits for annulment of their charters, but that such proceedings were cumbersome and difficult. He said he now contemplates filing annulment suits against some banks that have been more flagrant in charging usurious interest.

It is thought that proposed legislation will make it a criminal offense for a national bank officer to countenance a charge for a loan in excess of the legal limitation prescribed by state laws.

London, Jan. 22.—Henry James, the American author, who took the oath of allegiance as a British subject last year, has been seriously ill for several months and his physicians state that his condition is not improving. The chronic disease from which he suffers has been complicated by two light strokes of apoplexy.

WERE COMPELLED TO GIVE A PAIR

Washington, Jan. 22.—President and Mrs. Wilson gave their first diplomatic dinner at the White House. Usually the president and his wife honor the representatives of foreign nations at Washington at a reception which is regarded as the most brilliant social event of the Washington season. This year, however, the great war in Europe made the holding of such a reception impossible. Inasmuch as the ambassadors of the warring nations don't speak when they meet, it would, of course, be impossible to include all of them in the same social gathering. The president and Mrs. Wilson met the situation by deciding to invite the diplomats of all the neutral nations to both dinners. The dinner included the representatives of all of the allies, and the Teutonic ambassadors and their allies have been invited to gather around the White House board Monday evening.

HIS FLIGHT OF ORATORY.

The Cause Was Lowly, but the Lawyer's Plea Was Eloquent.

The wit and wisdom of members of the bar are acknowledged in all circles, and the following example, recorded by M. McDonnell Bodkin's book, "Recollections of an Irish Judge," is certainly worthy of being preserved:

"A certain barrister appeared to support an application before the recorder of Dublin for a license for a public house. The applicant was only twenty-five years old, and the recorder remarked that he was very young for a responsible position. The resourceful advocate rose majestically to the occasion and said:

"My lord, Alexander the Great at twenty-two years of age had crushed the Illyrians and razed the city of Thebes to the ground, had crossed the Hellespont at the head of his army, had conquered Darius with a force of a million in the deserts of Issus and brought the great Persian empire under his sway. At twenty-three René Descartes evolved a new system of philosophy. At twenty-four Pitt was prime minister of the British empire, on whose dominions the sun never sets. At twenty-four Napoleon overthrew the enemies of the republic with a whiff of grapeshot in the streets of Paris, and is it now to be judicially decided that at twenty-five my client, Peter Mulligan, is too young to manage a public house in Capel street?"

Oddest of Queer Fishes.

A queer fish that does not swim in the "sargasso fish," known to sailors as the "frogfish." It lives in that vast mass of floating gulfweed called the Sargasso sea, in mid-Atlantic.

Its pectoral fins are so modified and developed as to resemble arms, and it uses them for clinging to the weed. Very gaudily colored, it changes its hues to match the aquatic vegetation by which it is surrounded, and when the latter decays and turns brown it assumes a corresponding shade.

The fish lays its eggs in a jelly-like mass, which, absorbing a great quantity of water, becomes three times as big as the mother fish herself, assuming the form of a narrow raft three or four feet long and two to four inches wide.

COLLEGE MEN FAIL
IN QUIZ ON WAR

Test Shows Students Are Ignorant of Current Events.

MANY LUDICROUS ANSWERS

Examinations in Three Institutions Result in College Authorities Seeking Corrective Measures to Overcome Deficiency—Believe Students Are Indifferent to European Affairs.

New York.—Whether the ignorance of the college student of today is representative of a growing indifference on the part of the American public toward events, persons and places intimately associated with the European war is a question which college and university authorities are investigating as a result of examinations recently held under the auspices of three representative institutions. As an immediate result of the recent quiz on contemporaneous events conducted at New York university, where an average grade of 58 per cent was the rating shown by fifty-nine students, several members of the faculty are looking for corrective measures to overcome this deficiency.

It was stated by a member of the department of history at the New York university that he believed the apparent indifference of students toward the present war was indicative of a general tendency on the part of the public to neglect a close study of affairs in Europe. That the surprising lack of information of affairs immediately connected with the war was not peculiar to students at any university was further expressed as the opinion of Professor A. H. Nason, assistant professor of English at New York university. Professor Nason, who submitted twenty-one questions to students in his various classes, pointed out that the questions used have also been submitted to students of two other institutions—a middle western state university and Bowdoin college—where the results were about the same.

Dean Kenneth C. M. Sills of Bowdoin college is quoted as saying, "I do not think college men of New England colleges are very steady newspaper readers," and referred to the matter as "lamentable, but not surprising."

Some of the questions asked by authorities at both Bowdoin college and New York university received answers which in many cases were ludicrous. At Bowdoin out of a class of fifty-three students twenty were ignorant as to the location of Gallipoli, which in many cases was put variously in Italy, France, Bulgaria, Greece and Berlin. New York university students answered the same question with apparently as little accuracy.

The French General Joffre was variously designated by students at both institutions as "Joffrey," "Joffery," "Geoffrey" and "Jeoffrey," indicating a general unfamiliarity with even newspaper headlines. The question, "Who is Venizelos?" resulted in similarly ridiculous answers. Some recollected the ex-premier of Greece as a Spanish artist, another said that he was a Mexican rebel, while still another designated him as the premier of Italy. When asked "Who is the present ruler of England?" several students replied variously King Edward, George III, IV, or VI as the correct information.

In the department of history at New York university Assistant Professor Theodore F. Jones submitted current questions to a class of students in European history, among which was the query, "Where is Christiania?" Only two students knew its location, in spite of the fact that the daily papers of the day before all contained long accounts of the landing of the Ford party at that city. One student of the same class half seriously answered the question, "Who is Sir Douglas Hague?" by stating that he would answer the question correctly if told where the other "Haig" was.

Of the fifty-nine students taking the examination at New York university none answered all of the inquiries correctly, while only three obtained a grade above 90 per cent. Of a class of twenty-three freshmen nine failed, while the average rank was 63 per cent. Another class of the same number of freshmen averaged only 52 per cent, and thirteen failed to pass, while a class made up of upper class men did as poorly and averaged a grade of only 61 per cent.

ADVERTISING GETS WIFE.

Virginia Man Courts by Mail and Marries Indiana Woman.

Hymera, Ind.—Thomas Bond Buchanan, aged forty-five, a wealthy farmer of Petersburg, Va., advertised for a wife, and he found one.

After a few months of courtship by mail he came here to see his sweetheart. Each was pleased with the other's manner and appearance, and they were married. The bride was Jennie Stewart, aged forty-three.

Banker Sees Play Sixty-ninth Time.

Appleton, Wis.—Herman Erb, president of the First National bank, saw "Uncle Tom's Cabin" for the sixty-ninth time lately. He has not missed the play in over thirty-five years, and although seventy-two years of age he says it grows on him each time he sees it.

TALISMAN OF THE CELTS.

Romance of the Lia Fail, a Curious Piece of Stone.

In every strongly Irish newspaper, either in America or in Ireland, there is the oft repeated threat: "Wait until we recover the Lia Fail. Then Ireland will become a republic." And the readers have asked again and again: "What is the Lia Fail? Where is it, and what is its magic power?" Those who remember the Fenian fiasco, some years ago, will recall the battery of the troops, "Ho, for the Lia Fail!" The recovery of this Celtic talisman, however, would involve something more than a victory over some outlying province of Great Britain, for it is a part of the coronation chair in Westminster Abbey. It is a curious piece of stone, a little more than two feet long, and is said to be the identical stone on which Jacob rested his head when he had his marvelous dream. It was taken to Ireland, according to tradition, before the Christian era, and its removal from that island meant the death of liberty and independence to the Celt.

After a century of possession it was conveyed to the Ionian islands, to be used in a coronation ceremony, and was never recovered. The kings of Scotland seized and held it as their mascot. By Edward I. it was carried to London among the spoils of war when the Scottish kingdom began to totter. The son of Edward attempted to restore the stone to the Scotch, but already it had taken such hold on the superstition of the English that they feared for their country, and a mob prevented its restoration.—Exchange.

COLORS OF METEORS.

Three Stages Through Which They Pass to Reach the Earth.

An article by Alfred Wegener in the Scientific American offers an explanation of the marked difference of color observed in meteors. Up to an altitude of about forty-five miles the principal constituent of the earth's atmosphere is nitrogen. A second stratum of the atmosphere, extending up to about 125 miles, consists mainly of hydrogen. Still higher, Wegener himself has sought to prove the existence of a stratum consisting of an excessively light gas which he calls "geocoronium."

When entering the atmosphere from outer space meteors do not become luminous in the very tenuous "geocoronium sphere," but only when they enter the "hydrogen sphere," and most of them are dissipated before reaching the nitrogen atmosphere. The largest fireballs, however, penetrate deeper and may reach the earth or explode not far above it.

Dr. Wegener finds that the meteors that penetrate deep enough pass through three color stages—viz, yellow-white, green and deep red. The great majority exhibit only the first stage, in which the color (white, yellow, sometimes reddish) is that of the incandescent meteor itself. The green stage Wegener believes to be due to the incandescence of the hydrogen through which the meteor is passing, while the deep red stage is due to the incandescence of nitrogen in the lower atmosphere.

Thrill of Being Wet.

There is something rudimentary and fundamental about having water splashed down upon one and getting completely and deliciously wet—not damp, not moist, but wet, wringing wet. You yourself when a child never enjoyed anything so much as your first drenching in an unforeseen and unavoidable rainstorm—the thrill of being wet, the cool drive of the water on your nose, into your sleeves and down your neck, and the joyous slush of soaked, water-logged boots. Even the tedium of being rubbed with alcohol, bunched up and warned you would catch your death did not diminish the event. You voted it better than the time you fell off the boat dock; it lasted longer.—Atlantic.

Criticism Implied.

"He doesn't like my cooking," sobbed the three months bride, a tear on her long lashes. "I just know he doesn't. So there!"

"What makes you think so?" her mother asked. "Has he said he doesn't like my cooking?"

"No-no-o," stammered the bride.

"Nonsense, child. It's just your imagination. I felt there was no basis."

"There is a basis," the bride insisted tearfully. "I had been cooking the loveliest things for him for about two weeks, and then he told me he had decided to become a raw food faddist. Bo-hoo-o-o!"—Judge.

Dr. Johnson's Homeliness.

Samuel Johnson was himself—and this is a quality rarely found in "plain" men—under no illusion as to his personal appearance. Dr. Burney tells us that on one occasion while Miss Burney was examining his portrait he peeped over her shoulder and, with a ludicrous half laugh, exclaimed: "Ah, ha, Sam Johnson! I see thee—and an ugly dog thou art!"—London Times.

Force of Habit.

"The idea of that upstart talking back as he did to a society favorite! And they do say he was one time only a butler."

"Maybe that is why he was so quick to answer the belle!"—Baltimore American.

All Alike.

The following entry appears in the "visitors' book" of a hotel in Germany: "The living here is good, plain and substantial. So is the waitress."

If you stay up nights you can't keep up daytime.—Judge.

"Old Man" With Four Legs Fashioned by Prisoner.

QUIETLY RIPS SAFE KNOB.

Marks Found After Robbery in Michigan Trust Company at Grand Rapids Spoke Volumes to Detectives—Weighs Less Than Ten Pounds, but Does Job. Sometimes "Soup" Is Needed.

Grand Rapids, Mich.—A few years ago a mechanic fashioned a few strips of steel at his home forge, and the grotesque creation of this man, who is now serving time in the Ohio penitentiary, was christened "old man," and by way of distinction he was spoken of as having four legs.

When top story men worked in the Michigan Trust building here on a recent Sunday and tore out the combinations of two safes and shot another with nitroglycerin the "old man" with the four legs left his imprints on the safes. Where his "feet" had been planted were four deep dents. Those marks spoke volumes to the detectives.

Only expert safe crackers use the "old man." The man whose brain gave birth to this ingenious tool fashioned a most powerful and useful implement for the craft who use explosives and drill steel safes for a living when some commonwealth is not feeding and housing them in exchange for a safe cracking job or some other depredation.

A piece of steel fashioned into the semblance of a narrow horseshoe is the framework of the "old man." There is just enough room between these strips to enable the "old man" to drop over the knob of a safe. Four holes drilled in the "old man's" frame furnish the foothold for the four legs. The holes are threaded with a fine thread, as are the legs.

Once the "old man" fastens his grip upon the safe knob the legs are screwed into the holes. The close threads on bolts and hole give the "old man" a tremendous purchase power, and with a monkey wrench the legs are screwed down.

In a moment they are fast and the "old man's" back is bent to the task. So short and powerful is his frame and so closely set are his legs that there is no chance for him to bend at his work. The combination commences to give, and as the jaws of the wrench twist the legs in deeper the knob is slowly torn out. Entrance to the safe then is easy, and the inner compartments, once barred, are easily battered in.

The "old man's" right hand aid is a self fed drill, which can be fastened into the "old man's" frame as easily as one of the legs. An extra hole is drilled into the frame, and into this fits the threaded bolt that holds the drill steady and in place. But the drill is used only where the charge of "soup," or nitroglycerin, is resorted to in blowing the safe.

In this case the yeggs fasten the "old man" securely on the safe knob. The drill is placed, and the yegg then feeds the steel drill as he turns the handle. The bolt which holds the drill to its work and which is fastened into the "old man's" frame is one piece, while the drill is set inside of a threaded bolt that pushes it forward with the regularity the yegg uses in drilling.

After the hole is deep enough the "soup" is administered, and the hole is covered with wax and a fuse attached. Office rugs are thrown over the safe, and the yeggs step to one side as the fuse is fired. The real yegg uses just enough "soup" to accomplish the work of wrecking the safe without blowing the doors through a wall or making unnecessary noise.

The last job done in which the "old man" and a charge of "soup" were used was sufficient just to pull the door from its steel fastenings and hurl the combination out. Pushing back the bolts was nothing, and with a kit of special tools the yeggs soon entered the strong box.

The latest jobs credited to the "old man" with the four legs are those at Flint, in which much loot was taken from a bank; the Vermontville post-office and the United Light and Railways company's offices here, in which the "old man" was clamped on three safes.

One of the most complete yegg outfits in captivity is in possession of Director of Safety A. A. Carroll, who has the "old man" with the four legs. Included in this outfit are drills of various sizes, threading tools, skeleton key, "soup" guns, wax, chisels and sundry articles. The outfit was taken from a pair of yeggs who were captured by Director Carroll, but who fled after they jumped their bail bonds.

So complete was the tool molded by the inventor of the "old man" that the police assert no added inventions have come to make such an instrument more useful.

MILE A MINUTE TO SAVE DOG

Motorist Wins in Race Against Fire; Also Rescued Pet Cat.

Anoka, Minn.—Anthony Bryson drove an automobile forty miles in forty-five minutes over frozen country roads to save his dog and cat from fire.

Bryson's home on Elk river took fire while the owner and his wife were away. He was called on the telephone, and the race began. Bryson arrived too late to save the home, but rescued the pets.

The Fashion of the House.

A servant girl happened to be engaged at a farmhouse where the mistress was known to have a hasty temper. On the first Saturday night the girl was at the farmhouse she was told by the mistress to clean the boots ready for Sunday. The mistress on coming into the kitchen later on saw that the girl had cleaned her own boots first. So she took them up and threw them into a tub of water that was standing by and bounced out of the kitchen. The girl said nothing, but when she had cleaned the other boots she threw them also into the water.

"Whatever possessed you to do that, girl?" asked the mistress on coming again in the kitchen.

The girl simply replied:

"Well, ma'am, please, ma'am, I thought it was the fashion of the house, ma'am."—London Tit-Bits.

SWINE PLAGUE IS ON THE DECREASE

According to a local veterinarian the swine plague—hog cholera—is on the decline in Fayette county, and is not nearly so prevalent as it was last fall.
The decrease in the disease is due to the fact that serum treatment is being widely used, there are less hogs in the county by several thousands, and greater precaution is being taken by the farmers to prevent spread of the disease.
Tens of thousands of dollars have been lost in the county during the past year as a result of the ravages of the plague.

THE PRESIDENT ENJOYS CRUISE

Accompanied By Mrs. Wilson the Chief Executive Seeks Seclusion in Yacht Trip Down Potomac.

By Associated Press.
Washington, January 22.—President and Mrs. Wilson, aboard the yacht Mayflower, were cruising down the Potomac River today towards Chesapeake Bay.
The trip was taken to enable the president to have seclusion while he prepares the address he is to make in New York, January 27, at the Railroad Business Association banquet, and to draft tentatively the others he is to make on national preparedness on his Middle Western trip.
The President will be kept informed of all important news, while he is on the Mayflower, by wireless.

HARTMAN THEATER

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, January 31st, Feb. 1st and 2nd. Matinee Wednesday.

CYRIL MAUDE IN "GRUMPY."

England has never sent us a more delightful actor than Cyril Maude, who will be seen for first time in Columbus at the Hartman Theater Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights and Wednesday matinee, January 31st and February 1st and 2nd, in "Grumpy." Mr. Maude is said to possess charm and magnetism not unlike those of our dearly loved Joseph Jefferson. As the astute octogenarian "Grumpy", who hides a warm heart under a gruff exterior, and who sets out with undaunted energy despite his years, to unravel the mystery of a robbery and achieves his purpose, Mr. Maude is at his best. The play is in four acts, and is melodramatic comedy written by Horace Hodges and T. Wigney Percyval. It has served to establish Mr. Maude as one of the greatest character actors ever seen on the American stage. Proof of the attractiveness of the star and the play, is the fact that after the long engagement at Wal-lack's Theater, New York, Mr. Maude returned from a year on tour, and went to the Empire Theater, this Fall, for a limited engagement, finding an acapacity audience present to greet his every performance. To the Hartman he brings the identical cast that so ably supported him in the metropolitan presentation of "Grumpy." Mail orders for the Columbus engagement are being received and filled now.

Friday, Saturday and Sunday, February 4, 5, and 6—Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival.

Gifted with that peculiar faculty of sensing exactly what is of absorbing interest, Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival which comes to the Hartman Theater, Columbus, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, February 4, 5, and 6, can always be relied upon for an evening of unalloyed pleasure for young and old. Besides pictorial pilgrimages of rare charm to Maderia, Italy, France, Holland, Switzerland, the Firth of Forth, and our own Glacier National Park, the new program also includes dozens of distinct pictorial novelties. Thrills are also provided by a ride in an aeroplane above the clouds.

MANY FOOLISH LETTERS TO THE GOVERNOR

By Associated Press.
Columbus, January 22.—Here is a letter received in today's mail at the governor's office:
"Governor Willis:—I notice by the papers you had tonsillitis recently. I have a receipt for tonsillitis or quincy that is a sure cure and if used according to simple directions you need never suffer with it again and if you will send me a small figure all over effect velvet or Axminster rug, 12x15 feet, for my dining room I will send you the receipt and guarantee a sure cure. Your druggist can prepare it for you. I know you will thank me, and trusting you will take my offer." (Name of woman.)
The letter is an ordinary example of requests and complaints which reach the governor's office daily. Many show pathetic hallucinations. A few are threatening.
Most of the idiosyncratic epistles never reach the governor. They are side-tracked by Ralph Dodds, correspondence clerk, or by Captain Millet-us Garner, the commission clerk. Occasionally one is shown to Governor Willis for his amusement.

MURDERER ARRAIGNED

Cleveland Man Is Brought Back From New York and Faces Court.

By Associated Press.
Cleveland, O., January 22.—Louis Bianchetti, brought back from New York yesterday afternoon, was arraigned in court here today on the charge of first degree murder in connection with the death of Dolores Evans, 19 year old actress, found strangled to death in a hotel here two weeks ago.
Bianchetti pleaded not guilty. Judge Kennedy, efaring a repetition of the demonstration which occurred when the prisoner reached this city yesterday, ordered the court room cleared prior to the arraignment.

SEC'Y TUMULTY'S WIFE IS OPERATED UPON

By Associated Press.
Washington, January 22. — Mrs. Joseph F. Tumulty, wife of the secretary to the President, is ill in a hospital here. She was operated on today.
It was said afterward that the operation was successful and that her condition was improved.

ARRESTS MADE BY R. R. SLEUTHS

D. T. & I. detectives, Denny Clifford and N. J. Fisher have been working quietly in this city, and Friday night picked up Ed. Bondrent in the act of stealing coal. Mayor Oster fined him $1 and the costs, and suspended a six months' workhouse sentence pending good behavior.
Clark Rumer also was arrested upon a charge of taking coal from the D. T. & I. The offense is said to have covered a period of nearly one month.
